Wilm Stresses Wilderness Ban

State Conservation Commissioner Harold G. Wilm today affirmed that new legislation is "definitely needed" to clarify the Conservation Department's authority to regulate or ban the use of motorized vehicles in certain remote areas of the Forest Preserve.

Eight From CAP Get Awards for Training, Time

Major Sidney Lane, commander of Kingston Composite Squadron, Civil Air Patrol, has announced that senior and cadet personnel of the squadron were recently awarded ribbons for training and time in service.

Others Honored

Senior personnel, Capt. Julia Lane and Lt. Wesley Hogan, were awarded the Blue Service Ribbon for a minimum of 2,000 hours of service, and Lt. John Buzzanco, Lt. Richard Davis and Sgt. Harry Wilber were awarded the Red Service Ribbon for 500 hours of service.

At a recent meeting because so many of the Cadet Squadron had been asking questions about and expressing great interest in Civil Defense and in the effects of, and protection against, radioactive fallout, Capt. Marian Radcliffe, Commandant of Cadets, requested the local Civil Defense

Will Direct New Education Program of Church Council

The appointment of Mrs. Lewis L. Gillett of Hurley Heights as director of the released time religious education program was announced today by the Kingston Area Council of Churches.

Her selection by the Council, which is inaugurating the program this year, was based upon her educational background and experience and upon her active and extensive interest in church and community affairs.

Mrs. Gillett, a member of First Baptist Church, Albany Avenue at Broadway, is a graduate, with teaching honors, from Cortland State Teachers College. She also attended Oneonta State Teachers College.

Before coming to Kingston the newly appointed religious education director taught for three years at the Hooper School in Endicott area and was an active church member in the Van Etten Methodist Church and later in the Endicott First Baptist Church.

She also has had prior exper-

West in Accord On Berlin Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — Western foreign ministers were reported today to have made good progress in agreeing on military, political, and other countermeasures that may be used by the Allied powers against Soviet pressures on West Berlin.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and the foreign ministers of Britain, France and West Germany were scheduled to wind up their three-day Washington conference early this afternoon.

Will Meet Gromyko

Rusk was scheduled to go to New York Sunday for the opening days of the U.N. General Assembly, beginning Tuesday, and for exploratory talks on Berlin with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

The foreign ministers meeting with Rusk—Britain's Lord Home, France's Maurice Couve de Murville and West Germany's Heinrich von Brentano—are reported to consider the Rusk-Gromyko probing operation of crucial importance. Britain, and apparently the United States, favor an East-West foreign ministers meeting on Berlin in October or November if Gromyko brings word that Soviet Premier Khrushchev is ready for negotiations on what the Western powers would consider reasonable terms.

Won't Be Dictated To

On the other hand, information from inside the conference is that the four Western ministers agreed that they will not become involved in any negotiations in which Khrushchev clearly intends to dictate the terms and humiliate the West. If that is the attitude which Gromyko displays to Rusk, the judgment of the Western ministers is reported to be that prospects of a shooting war over Berlin will be very great.

Informants said the Western foreign ministers have considered the possibility of making Berlin an open city or of establishing U.N. agencies in Berlin as a guarantee of its independence.

Rash of Rumors

The Western policy meeting here went into its final day amid a rash of rumors about possible new moves by the Soviet Union and Communist East Germany in the Berlin crisis. The ministers learned Friday that the U.S. government has reports that the East German regime plans "the arrest and mass deportation" of people living on the Communist side of the Berlin and East German boundaries.

The State Department, meanwhile, heard rumors that Khrushchev was speeding up his plan for signing a separate peace treaty

Low Yield Marks 1st U. S. Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States began its underground nuclear test series with an apparently junior-size blast packing a punch equivalent to 1,000 tons of TNT—possibly less.

President Kennedy announced that Friday's low yield, no-fallout underground explosion took place in a remote, highly guarded section of Nevada. There was no advance announcement and the blast was not audible in the nearest city, Las Vegas, 65 miles away.

Marked Contrast to Reds

In his statement, Kennedy said, "The detonation has produced no fallout. This is in marked contrast to the Soviet nuclear tests in the atmosphere."

He added, "The United States once again reaffirms its readiness to negotiate a controlled test ban agreement of the widest possible scope."

Fifteen days ago, the Soviets junked their three-year moratorium on nuclear testing. They have fired 10 blasts into the atmosphere in their current test series.

Ready for JFK Word

There have been reports from an authoritative source that a series of 24 U.S. weapons was ready for testing as soon as Kennedy gave the go-ahead.

The known facts about the force of Friday's U.S. test are these: 1. The White House described

Business Week in Review

By JACK LEFFLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Business took it on the chin from a big strike and a big hurricane during the week.

And a big economic storm was swirling into action over the question of a price increase in the key steel industry. President Kennedy's request to hold the price of steel despite a wage increase stirred reaction among industry leaders.

Walkouts Idle Cars

Walkouts at local plant level reduced General Motors Corp. automobile production to a trickle. Hurricane Carla inflicted multi-million-dollar damage on businesses over a wide area extending inward from the Texas and Louisiana Gulf coasts.

Although General Motors and the United Auto Workers Union reached agreement on major issues of a new three-year contract during the week, 257,000 of the company's 310,000 production workers struck over local working conditions. This put 94 of the company's 130 plants out of operation.

There was apprehension that local issues might produce similar situations with Ford and Chrysler once those companies and the UAW agree on a national pact.

The work stoppage was expected to play hob with production schedules for the final four months of the year. The industry had planned to build about 500,000 passenger cars this month and

Miller Feels Nixon Will Join Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Republican National Chairman William E. Miller has "a feeling" that former vice president Richard M. Nixon will be the GOP candidate for governor of California next year.

With Nixon running for office in 1962, Miller said, there would be a real chance for Republicans to capture the House of Representatives and make substantial gains in the Senate.

Decision Due Shortly

Nixon, GOP presidential candidate last year, has said he will announce a decision on the governorship shortly.

Miller, speaking at a news conference Friday, said he was "delighted" that New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has already announced he would seek reelection in 1962.

Both Nixon and Rockefeller have been mentioned as possibilities for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination.

Miller also predicted that Republicans would win the majority in traditionally Democratic New York City in the Nov. 7 election.

The GOP candidate is State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz. His Democratic opponent, Mayor Robert F. Wagner, is seeking a third four-year term.

"The people of New York City are finally realizing that the one-party system was no good for Nazi Germany, is no good for Russia and is no good for New York City," Miller said.

Speaking at a rally of more than 300 GOP campaign workers, Miller said the nation will be watching the city's municipal elections to see if it will again "endure corruption and incompetency."

Rockey Praises Ticket

Rockefeller, also at the rally, said that never before has the Republican Party fielded a ticket of "such caliber, abilities and integrity" as it has this year.

Lefkowitz said the GOP could

Eight Hurt in 3 Area Accidents

Eight persons were injured, two critically, in a series of three area Thruway mishaps Friday night.

Listed as critical at Kingston Hospital today were Joseph Mankiewicz, 42, and his wife, Eufenia, 36, of Amsterdam as result of injuries when their car plunged 40 feet off the bridge over the New York Central tracks, one mile south of the Kingston interchange.

5 Hurt in 2-Car Crash

Five persons suffered lesser injuries in a two-car collision four miles north of the Saugerties interchange, and the operator of a truck carrying New York City newspapers to Hudson Valley communities was injured when his truck was cut off by another vehicle and overturned one mile south of the Catskill interchange.

Heading Home

The Mankiewicz couple was heading home after taking friends to their home in New Jersey. State Trooper Fred Cooper said Mankiewicz apparently fell asleep at the wheel, crossed the center line, hit the southbound lanes and rammed into the bridge over the old Ulster and Delaware railroad tracks. The vehicle plummeted 40 feet and landed on its top on the rails.

Mr. and Mrs. Mankiewicz were taken to Kingston Hospital. He suffered multiple skull fractures, lacerations and abrasions of the face, body and legs. His wife suffered a dislocated hip, lacerations and abrasions of the face, body and legs.

Five persons were hospitalized late Friday night following a two-car accident on the Thruway, about four miles north of the Saugerties interchange, near the Malden Service area.

Ernesto Nieves, 36 of Brooklyn, told state police his lights suddenly went out as he was passing a car in the northbound lane. He said his brother, Secundulo Caban, 21, got out to direct him to the side of the road when another automobile, operated by Edward Slonecki, 47 of the East Meadow, L. I. struck the rear of Nieves vehicle.

Casualties Reported As Heavy Irishmen Under Siege Six Days

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Hard-pressed U.N. troops held out at key points in Katanga today while reinforcements were rushed in and the United Nations tried to reason with Katanga President Moise Tshombe.

The three major centers of military action were the capital at Elisabethville, the mining town of Jadotville 60 miles northwest of the capital and Kamina base in northern Katanga. Casualties were heavy, and Katanga forces gained control of large sectors of Elisabethville, U.N. sources said.

Tshombe in Capital

Tshombe was believed still in Elisabethville.

Katanga forces, led by white officers, attacked in all three places Friday and put U.N. soldiers on the defensive in their campaign to disarm the Katangan army and win it back for the central Congolese government. Revenues from the mineral-rich province are vital to the Congolese treasury.

The 150 Irish soldiers at Jadotville were originally sent there to protect the European population. They have been under siege for six days, although the open fighting for Katanga did not begin until early Wednesday.

Relief Turned Back

They were surrounded by 500 well-armed Katanga troops and hundreds of fanatical Beyeka tribesmen. A U.N. relief column was turned back by Katangan roadblocks, reinforced by heavy machine guns.

Conor Cruise O'Brien, an Irishman who is the chief U.N. representative in Katanga, said enough Katanga prisoners had been captured to set up an exchange for the Irish if necessary. Radio Free Katanga, Tshombe's station, declared that 10 U.N. prisoners would be executed for every Katangan killed. About 130 Irish U.N. troops were prisoners when the announcement was made. It followed orders from U.N. officials for the summary execution of any Katangan civilian found carrying weapons.

Orders Emergency

The orders came from Brig. S. K. Raja of India, the U.N. military commander. He decreed a state of emergency and an 8 p.m. curfew.

The U.N. second in command in Katanga, Michel Tombelain, said Friday that Tshombe would soon talk with U.N. authorities. But Tombelain made it clear that the United Nations "is determined to stand by its decision to implement the Security Council resolution in order to end Katanga's secession." Tshombe had vowed to fight "to the last bullet."

Bombed by Jets

Katanga jets bombed or strafed Jadotville, Elisabethville, and Kamina.

Troops by the hundreds were thrown against the former Belgian base at Kamina. Mortars and machine guns fired into the compound. Two companies of Swedish troops were flown in as reinforcements. Four plane loads of wounded were brought out.

Principal targets in the capital were O'Brien's house—he was not hurt—and the Elisabethville airport, the only point there for U.N.

Vote Big Boost In Water Rates At College Park

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The College Park Water Corp., which serves 64 customers in the town of Red Hook, Dutchess County, will raise its prices a total of $2,300 a year Oct. 1.

The annual rate will go from the present $24 to $26 a customer. The Public Service Commission approved the new rates today. A commissioner examiner had reported that the increase of more than double present charges was "a drastic step."

But company revenues still will fall $700 below operating expenses the examiner said.

The POWER of FAITH

PROMINENT MEN OF FAITH

Pope John XXIII

Moving with a warm, humble spirit, Pope John XXIII has moved the hearts of many. He visited carpenters in their Vatican shop and ordered them wine; he talked with Vatican workers on their jobs and raised their salaries. He visited prisoners in jail, the first Pope to do so in 90 years.

The 79-year-old Pope, who hopes to promote the unity of all Christian faiths, starts his day at 4 a. m. with prayers. The former sergeant, a chaplain in the first war, has moved far to become the leader of 500 million Catholics around the world.

Hudson Area Lutherans Will Hold Fall Conclave Sept. 22

The Hudson Conference of the United Lutheran Synod of New York and New England will hold its fall convention Friday, Sept. 22, at St. John's Lutheran Church, Hudson, the Rev. William Rittberger, pastor.

The sessions will open at 10 a. m. with registration of lay and clerical delegates from the 37 congregations comprising the conference, which extend from Valatie to Poughkeepsie on the east side of the Hudson and from Athens to Port Jervis on the west side.

The Service of Confession and Holy Communion will follow registration. The Rev. Russell B. Greene, St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Hasbrouck Avenue, Kingston, will conduct the confessional service. The scripture lessons will be read by the Rev. William de Heyman of Vail's Gate, Newburgh. The sermon will be preached by the Rev. John H. Frensen of Trinity Lutheran Church, Kingston. The administration of the Sacrament will be in charge of the Rev. William Rittberger, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, Hudson.

The Rev. Alfred Beck, president of the Synod will address the convention at 11:30 a. m., on the state of the church, goals being sought and progress of the work to date.

Luncheon will be served in the newly renovated education section of the church by the ladies of St. John's Church. At 2 p. m. representatives from Wagner Memorial Lutheran College, Staten Island, and Hartwick Lutheran College, Oneonta, will be heard. They will talk on the needs of the colleges, appraise the delegates of fall registrations, and outline the programs made during the past year.

The Rev. Keigi Kuniyasu, a minister of the United Church of Christ in Japan, will be the speaker. The program will also include a hymnsing and reports from Silver Bay Missionary Conference delegates, and the showing of a new color film entitled "A Day for Witness."

All Reformed Church people of Ulster Classis may attend the festival those attending will bring a box supper.

Women's Guild Holds Meeting At Marbletown

The third meeting of the Women's Guild for Christian Service was held last week at the Marbletown Reformed Church, Stone Ridge.

Previous to the showing of a film "The Seminary Family," the Rev. Robert Clementz, pastor, gave a brief talk on the early history of the local church. He suggested that Guild members might like to read further about the history for circle study. The film, made at New Brunswick Seminary, was based on ministerial education.

Mrs. Elizabeth Barnhart presided at the business meeting which opened with a scripture reading and prayer by the Spiritual Life Secretary, Mrs. Robert Clementz. Reports were heard from the standing committees.

Mrs. Clementz urged members to study John 18 and 19 for the next circle meeting.

Mrs. Stanley Roosa, educational secretary, reported that for September and October race relations would be studied based on what the church is doing about it and what might be done.

Service Secretary, Mrs. Myron Boice, requested new items, preferably clothing for ages 6 to 16 years. The missionary box will be sent to Sinking Valley, Ky., by Oct. 1. Items should be marked and left in the church basement.

A chairman or co-chairman is needed for a proposed rummage sale which will be held next month if a store for that purpose can be rented on North Front Street.

Cantine Circle requested Friday, Dec. 1 for a fellowship supper for Guild members and their families. Thursday evening, Nov. 9, Guild members will serve a turkey dinner for the Babe Ruth League.

Mrs. Frank Brooks would like workers and new material for rag rug making. They will start to cut and sew rags every first and third Wednesday of each month. The time will be announced in the church bulletin.

Cancer pad sewing will start next month and will be every second and fourth Wednesday. Mrs. Edward Coles will be in charge. Anyone may join this sewing group. Any inactive members who cannot attend these meetings but could sew at home may do so and leave completed work in the church basement.

A motion was made to send two delegates to the Warwick Conference Nov. 8 and 9. The church will pay expenses.

Mrs. Elsa D. Hart was thanked by Mrs. Barnhart, the Rev. Mr. Clementz and the group present for all her work on the Dutch Day Fair.

The next Guild Meeting will be held on Nov. 1 at 8 p. m. Refreshments will be served by the Clo-Mar Circle.

Kentucky Parish Of 110-Mile Area Has Few Families

By GEORGE W. HACKETT
PAINTSVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Scattered 32 families around a 110-mile arc and you'll have Father John Reilly's parish.

He covers some of it by automobile, the rest on foot, scrambling up the hollows and across the eastern Kentucky mountains where the scent of illegal mash occasionally accents the air.

Strangers are rare in the hills, and so Father Reilly, 47, takes precautions. "After four years, I still send word that I'm coming in; wear old clothes and boots. If I were dressed like a priest a lot of people wouldn't recognize me. After all, the ratio of Roman Catholics is 1 to 700."

The blue eyes sparkle as he adds: "They also haven't seen many red-haired Irishmen from Boston like me."

No Church in Parish
Paintsville has no Catholic church, but a small chapel inside the priest's house serves the purpose. The interior is spotless.

He does all his own work and cooking and he weighs 228 pounds.

A few steps away is Our Lady of the Mountain School, where he teaches during the week.

Each Sunday after Mass, Father Reilly hops into an old car, drives 15 miles to Prestonburg, and repeats the service. Two Sundays each month he also travels to Beauty, an old mining camp near the West Virginia border.

"We have nine people there. Makes it easy for me, because I can't right away who's missing and give them the devil for not attending Mass."

Travels 35,000 Miles
He puts about 35,000 miles a year on his car and "it seems like I walk about the same number of miles"—mainly in search of background information on the Catholics who have moved away and later wish to marry. The priest in the new parish must know where the applicant was baptized, whether he was married before and other details.

Father Reilly was educated at Boston College, the University of Notre Dame, and Mount St. Mary's at Cincinnati. He became pastor at Paintsville, his first parish, in 1957. "It's been an exciting life," he says.

Resume Services At Re-opened High Falls Church

Church services in the former Clove Reformed Church of High Falls will be resumed Sunday at 10 a. m. when H. Vogelair, student minister at New Brunswick Theological Seminary, will conduct services. Sunday school will be held 9 a. m. at the church.

Last spring a proposal was made to re-open the church, which had been closed for Sunday worship since consolidation with Marbletown Reformed Church, Stone Ridge, some time ago. Following several meetings the Classis of Ulster re-opened the church on a temporary basis for a period of one year. If at the end of that period the residents of the High Falls area have demonstrated the need and ability to maintain the church as a separate institution, steps will be taken to re-establish the church again as a new church.

Residents of the area have been working during the past months, raising funds and making plans toward the re-opening of the church.

A rally was held last Sunday and twenty Sunday school teachers have pledged to assist in the Sunday school work.

During the year of trial operation, the church will be operated rent free but maintenance and operation costs will be met by the congregation.

Sunday, Sept. 24, services will be conducted at 10 a. m. by Donald Maxam, a senior student at the New Brunswick Seminary. Each Sunday a student minister or other supply will conduct the morning worship service.

Men's Club Plans Father, Daughter Banquet Sept. 20

Plans for the father and daughter banquet sponsored by the Comforter Men's Club have been completed. The banquet will be held Wednesday, Sept. 20, at 6:30 p. m., in the Comforter Hall, Wynkoop Place.

The master of ceremonies for the banquet will be Dr. Julian I. Gifford. Linda Hornbeck will toast the fathers, Donald Wood will toast the daughters, and Shelia Sleight will provide the special music for the program.

The speaker for the evening will be Miss Edna Merritt, who spent many years in Christian missionary service in China and Formosa. Miss Merritt is presently teaching in the Myron J. Michael school in this city. Miss Merritt will center her talk on China, and especially South China, where she spent most of her time.

Tickets for the banquet may be obtained from Francis Phillips, 494 Codrington Street, or from any member of the Men's Club. The Comforter Ladies Aid, Mrs. Philip Maines, president, will serve the dinner.

Volunteers of America Chapel Opens Sunday

The Volunteers of America announces the opening of their Chapel at 15 Broadway, Kingston.

"These are nondenominational services," Lieutenant Roland Bickford said today, "and we urge everyone to come and enjoy the services with us."

The services will be held at 3:00 p. m. this Sunday afternoon and every Sunday thereafter.

Area Methodist Clergyman Returns From Russian Tour

A Kingston clergyman has just returned home from an extensive tour of Europe with memories of grim, Russian countryside and a message for his fellow Americans to cherish their freedom.

The Rev. George P. Werner, Kingston district superintendent of the New York Methodist Conference, Mrs. Werner and their daughter April returned last week from Europe aboard the Bergensfjord, flagship of the Norwegian American line. The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Werner were delegates to the World Methodist Conference which met in Oslo, Norway.

Prior to the conference, the family traveled through several European countries. The Rev. Mr. Werner spent three very informative days in Berlin (before the wall between the East and West sectors was built). He observed the great contrast between the productive happy life of the West Berliners as compared with the grim, drab despairing life in the Eastern sector.

While in Berlin he attended the Kirchentag, the meeting of Evangelical Christians in Western Europe, which was addressed by Bishop Debellus.

Tours Russia by Land
From Berlin, the Rev. Mr. Werner flew to Warsaw where he joined a group touring Russia by motor coach. After spending a few days in Warsaw, the group entered Russia at Brest and visited the cities of Minsk and Smolensk before spending five days in Moscow. The group traveled over 2,000 miles behind the Iron Curtain.

It was disturbing to learn that the Russian people are given little news of the outside world, he said. "They are indeed cut off from the western nations, except for the Voice of America program which is often jammed."

He compared the general topography of the farm land to that of the mid-western United States. Workers on the cooperative farms live in small villages of log cabins. Houses now being constructed in the farm areas are of logs also.

While in Moscow, the Rev. Mr. Werner visited the one Protestant church in the city—a Baptist church. He also visited Russian Orthodox churches. He found that congregations were small and made up primarily of elderly women. There is a strong movement in Russia for the propagation of atheism.

He also visited the Zagorsky Monastery near Moscow and the Scientific and Economic Achievement exhibit.

The Rev. Mr. Werner said that most items for sale in the GUM Store, opposite Red Square, were of poor quality by western standards and very expensive. He paid 80 cents for one orange—it was sold by gram weight.

He pointed out that a carpenter in Russia would make about $80 a month and an overcoat would cost him at least $125. There are no traffic jams on Moscow streets, he said, because few people can afford cars.

The group also spent three days in Leningrad, once the residence of the czars, and visited The Hermitage, Summer Palace and other places of interest in the city.

At the border of Finland, when the group crossed the frontier into a free country, one member, with tears of joy in his eyes said, "I felt as though

Church Teachers School Slated in Poughkeepsie

A laboratory school to train church school teachers will be conducted Oct. 1-5 at Washington-Hedding and Trinity Methodist Churches in Poughkeepsie, under the direction of the New York Methodist Conference Board of Education.

An orientation session will be held from 7 to 9:30 p. m. Oct. 1 and classes will be held the following four days from 9:15 a. m. to 9:30 p. m.

The faculty and staff will include Mrs. Merritt Dietrich of Baltimore, Md., Mrs. Frank Doughty of Ardsley, Mrs. Howard D. McGrath of Katonah, Mrs. Lowell B. Hazzard of Washington, D. C., and Dr. Merritt Dietrich, executive secretary of the Baltimore Conference Board of Education.

Camp Epworth Retreat Slated By Methodists

A spiritual life retreat for Methodist Church leaders in the New York Conference will be held Oct. 6 and 7 at Camp Epworth, training camp near High Falls. Pastors, lay leaders and commission chairmen from 340 churches are expected to attend.

Bishop Lloyd C. Wicke will lead the retreat which is described by the committee as a time for "examination of our personal relationship to God, our quest for God's presence in our lives and a spiritual re-evaluation of our ministry as ministers or laymen."

The Rev. William R. Dike of Gardnertown Road, Newburgh, is registrar.

Would Let C&O Take Over B&O

WASHINGTON (AP)—A coal consultant for the New York Central Railroad says a combination of the Chesapeake & Ohio and Baltimore & Ohio Railroads would almost eliminate Central from the business of hauling coal.

But a group of coal executives Friday favored permitting C&O to take control of B&O.

The comments came in a hearing before Interstate Commerce Commission examiner John L. Bradford on rival bids by C&O and Central to take control of the faltering B&O.

T. F. McCarthy of Indiana, Pa., a Central consultant, said a C&O-B&O combination would have access to almost 55 per cent of the remaining recoverable coal reserves in the Eastern bituminous fields, leaving only 9 per cent for Central.

Central has stressed that coal traffic is the backbone of its revenues.

The hearing resumes Monday and will continue through Friday. On Sept. 25, a series of six regional hearings begin. Hearings will be held at Boston, Syracuse, N.Y., Detroit, Indianapolis, Ind. Chicago and Cleveland.

Motorcyclist Killed, Swerved to Miss Bus

OGDENSBURG, N. Y. (AP)—A motorcyclist swerved to avoid striking a stopped school bus, struck an oncoming automobile and was killed Friday, State Police said.

None of the 40 children aboard the bus was injured, although the motorcycle clipped the left rear of the bus.

Down Payment on Home

Q) "My husband and I are looking for a home. His weekly income after taxes is $89. We have been married a year and four months and have saved about $3,000 from my salary. We have two questions: First, should we consider investing the money in stocks rather than using it as a down payment on a home? And, if we decide on a home, what price house should we look for?" K. ## New JD Program Saves Taxpayers Nearly $360,000

JOHNSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—A program to cut the time juvenile delinquents spend in institutions saved the taxpayers nearly $360,000 last year and produced an inestimable saving in human values, the state welfare commissioner says.

Commissioner Raymond W. Houston told a meeting of the State Association of Children's Court Judges Friday night that, under the plan, 106 boys sent to state training schools as delinquents were screened and released shortly afterwards.

Upon their return to their home communities, they were supervised by a special unit of five parole officers. Houston reported that 100 of the boys made "fair to creditable" adjustments. The other six did not adjust properly. It would have cost the state $400,000 to keep the 100 boys in training schools for a year, Houston said. Under the early-release plan, he said, the cost for the 100 youths was $40,000.

Delinquents 15 and under are committed to schools operated by the Welfare Department. Those 16 and older are committed to facilities operated by the Correction Department.

Such a plan will permit you to begin investing in common stocks without involving a large portion of your total capital, and you will still have enough money left to use as a purchase deposit on a small home.

My suggestion is that you contact your local mortgage banker for his advice on just what price house you should consider.

For your first stock investment, I recommend that you buy Montana Power, a utility stock combining current income with strong prospects of future appreciation.

Q) "A few months ago I bought Republic National Life Insurance at $48 a share. The present price is now in the higher 70's. Should I sell or hold on, hoping for an even better profit?"

Your company has already turned in a strong growth performance, and it looks to me as if this upward trend will continue. If I were you, I would hold on to my shares. ## Hudson Area Lutherans Will Hold Fall Conclave Sept. 22

The Hudson Conference of the United Lutheran Synod of New York and New England will hold its fall convention Friday, Sept. 22, at St. John's Lutheran Church, Hudson, the Rev. William Rittberger, pastor.

The sessions will open at 10 a. m. with registration of lay and clerical delegates from the 37 congregations comprising the conference, which extend from Valatie to Poughkeepsie on the east side of the Hudson and from Athens to Port Jervis on the west side.

The Service of Confession and Holy Communion will follow registration. The Rev. Russell B. Greene, St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Hasbrouck Avenue, Kingston, will conduct the confessional service. The scripture lessons will be read by the Rev. William de Heyman of Vail's Gate, Newburgh. The sermon will be preached by the Rev. John H. Frensen of Trinity Lutheran Church, Kingston. The administration of the Sacrament will be in charge of the Rev. William Rittberger, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, Hudson.

The Rev. Alfred Beck, president of the Synod, will address the convention at 11:30 a. m., on the state of the church, goals being sought and progress of the work to date.

Luncheon will be served in the newly renovated education section of the church by the ladies of St. John's Church. At 2 p. m. representatives from Wagner Memorial Lutheran College, Staten Island, and Hartwick Lutheran College, Oneonta, will be heard. They will talk on the needs of the colleges, appraise the delegates of fall registrations, and outline the programs made during the past year.

Area Pastor's Report

Among reports will be one by the Rev. David C. Gaise, DD, chairman of the conference Wagner College Library and Chapel and pastor of Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Kingston. He will report on the completion of the new library to be dedicated 10:30 a. m. Sept. 30 at the college.

The Rev. Walter Cowen, pastor of Atonement Lutheran Church and chairman of the Lutheran World Action Appeal will report on the contribution to world-wide work on relief, refugee resettlement, job training and mission work in 17 lands.

The Rev. David L. Vikner of the board of foreign missions will outline the broad foreign mission program, its needs and challenges.

Bloomington Church Sunday School Reopens

The Bloomington Reformed Church, Bloomington, announces the opening of the regular session of Sunday school, beginning Sept. 17 at 9:45 a. m.

The first session will be for the purpose of registration and becoming acquainted with teachers. The following Sunday, the entire Sunday school will participate in Christian Education Sunday with Rally Day exercises during the regular service of worship at 11 a. m. Children will also attend a practice session at 9:45 a. m.

Officers and teachers for the 1961-62 session are: Superintendent, Karl Pederson; secretary, Mrs. Raymond LeFever.

Kindergarten, Miss Lynn Whitman; primary, Mrs. Frank Van Loan; intermediate, Mrs. Edna Coddington and Mrs. Henry Hartman; junior boys, Raymond LeFever; junior girls, Mrs. Leslie Every; junior high class, Kenneth Taylor.

An adult Bible class will begin on the first Sunday of October with Mrs. Earl Mack and Karl Pederson teaching on alternate Sundays.

Kentucky Parish Of 110-Mile Area Has Few Families

By GEORGE W. HACKETT
PAINTSVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Scattered 32 families around a 110-mile arc and you'll have Father John Reilly's parish.

He covers some of it by automobile, the rest on foot, scrambling up the hollows and across the eastern Kentucky mountains where the scent of illegal mash occasionally accents the air. Strangers are rare in the hills, and so Father Reilly, 47, takes precautions.

"After four years, I still send word that I'm coming in; wear old clothes and boots. If I were dressed like a priest a lot of people wouldn't recognize me. After all, the ratio of Roman Catholics is 1 to 700."

The blue eyes sparkle as he adds: "They also haven't seen many red-haired Irishmen from Boston like me."

No Church in Parish

Paintsville has no Catholic church, but a small chapel inside the priest's house serves the purpose. The interior is spotless.

He does all his own work and cooking and he weighs 228 pounds.

A few stens away is Our Lady of the Mountain School, where he teaches during the week.

Each Sunday, after Mass, Father Reilly hops into an old car, drives 15 miles to Prestonsburg, and repeats the service. Two Sundays each month he also travels to Beauty, an old mining camp near the West Virginia border.

"We have nine people there. Makes it easy for me, because I can tell right away who's missing and give them the devil for not attending mass."

Travels 35,000 Miles

He puts about 35,000 miles a year on his car and "it seems like I walk about the same number of miles"—mainly in search of background information on the Catholics who have moved away and later wish to marry. The priest in the new parish must know when the applicant was baptized, whether he was married before and other details.

Father Reilly was educated at Boston College, the University of Notre Dame, and Mount St. Mary's at Cincinnati. He became pastor at Paintsville, his first parish, in 1957. "It's been an exciting life," he says.

Resume Services At Re-opened High Falls Church

Church services in the former Clove Reformed Church of High Falls will be resumed Sunday at 10 a. m. when H. Vogelaar, student minister at New Brunswick Theological Seminary, will conduct services. Sunday school will be held 9 a. m. at the church.

Last spring a proposal was made to re-open the church, which had been closed for Sunday worship since consolidation with Marbletown Reformed Church, Stone Ridge, some time ago. Following several meetings the Classis of Ulster re-opened the church on a temporary basis for a period of one year. If at the end of that period the residents of the High Falls area have demonstrated the need and ability to maintain the church as a separate institution, steps will be taken to re-establish the church again as a new church.

Residents of the area have been working during the past months, raising funds and making plans toward the re-opening of the church.

A rally was held last Sunday and twenty Sunday school teachers have pledged to assist in the Sunday school work.

During the year of trial operation, the church will be operated free but maintenance and operation costs will be met by the congregation.

Sunday, Sept. 24, services will be conducted at 10 a. m. by Donald Maxam, a senior student at the New Brunswick Seminary. Each Sunday a student minister or other supply will conduct the morning worship service.

The next Guild Meeting will be held on Nov. 1 at 8 p. m. Refreshments will be served by the Clo-Mar Circle.

Men's Club Plans Father, Daughter Banquet Sept. 20

Plans for the father and daughter banquet sponsored by the Comforter Men's Club have been completed. The banquet will be held Wednesday, Sept. 20, at 6:30 p. m. in the Comforter Hall, Wynkoop Place.

The master of ceremonies for the banquet will be Dr. Julian I. Gifford. Linda Hornbeck will toast the fathers, Donald Wood will toast the daughters, and Shelia Sleight will provide the special music for the program.

HUNTER SAFETY TRAINING

Comes now the time when nimrods venture into field and slough and forest to try their hand at bringing home the bacon with a gamey flavor. Before long there will be news stories about certain characters that appear on stage every hunting season—the fellow who didn't know his gun was loaded, the one who dropped his gun against the fence while he crawled through, the man that shot at something that moved in the woods, the hunter who left off the safety and then stumbled.

There are others of the same ilk. Not bad fellows, most of them. But careless, forgetful that the gun they carry is not a toy but a weapon capable of killing a man if it is not used properly.

The rules for handling rifle or shotgun should be thoroughly understood by all hunters. Anybody not familiar with them can quickly find out what to do and what not to do with a gun by attending a course for hunter safety to be conducted by members of 1st Howitzer Battalion, 156th Artillery, New York Army National Guard.

The Guard cooperating with the State of New York Conservation Department will hold the first session of the hunter safety training program beginning September 28 and the second session starting October 5. Classes will be conducted at the Armory on North Manor Avenue.

All individuals applying for a hunting license for the first time and those who cannot show proof of previously having been issued a hunting license must secure a certificate of competence issued upon completion of a course in hunter safety training.

Any man who knows the rules but doesn't follow them is an irresponsible citizen not fit to be afield with a gun. Hunting is a pleasure for many people each fall, but it can be death to some of them because of such irresponsibility.

KHRUSHCHEV 'PARADISE'

Nikita Khrushchev, who fancies himself as quite a comic, was never funnier than he was the other day when he gave paradise the heavy-handed brushoff. Paradise, scoffed the Russian premier, is a myth, a figment of the imagination of those who believe in God.

The wise and practical folk who live under communism, said Khrushchev, are creating their own paradise. This, of course, was the premier's most hilarious statement of all and should have brought down the house.

People enslaved by communism in Russia and satellite countries are not impressed by Khrushchev's progress toward a paradise on earth, even though Kremlin bigwigs never tire of telling them how wonderful things are going to be. The East Germans were fleeing "paradise" in droves until Khrushchev imprisoned them with the concrete and barbed wire Berlin wall.

Many have died or risked death seeking to pass this barrier. One East German gained freedom by crashing a truck through the Brandenburg Gate. Three youths battered through the wall in a truck. One couple swam the Teltow canal, towing their baby in a small bathtub. And so on. Before Khrushchev pokes any more fun at an after-death paradise, he might explain why so many obviously care so little for the Communist version.

DETAILS, DETAILS

Whenever foreign crisis descends upon us, we hear urgings from White House and Capitol hill alike to "refrain from enlarging (domestic) programs, no matter how desirable they may be." President Kennedy raised his voice in this vein this summer.

Since then the tensions have mounted, fed especially by Russia's renewal of nuclear tests and rough tactics in Berlin. But in this age of billion-dollar outlays, the feeling persists that millions don't count. The day after Russia resumed testing, the House voted $20 million for a new aquarium in Washington.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
POOR ME!

I recently wrote about former FBI agents who advertise their relationship to that organization and some of whom give the erroneous impression of extraordinary knowledge about Communism and Left Wing Movements. I have since received a number of letters and telephone calls from former FBI agents and their friends, some of whom have been my friends for years, demanding to know whether I meant them.

In that article, I praised the National Review which is a publication that I favor. So other Right Wing publications complain that I must hate them. On this point, I can assure one and all that I hate nobody and will, from time to time, praise those who are, in my opinion, deserving of praise.

Right Wing groups are extraordinarily sensitive to criticism, particularly when the question is raised as to whether a man should earn his living out of his ideals and principles of life. They ask, don't the Communists get paid? But then Conservatives are not like Communists. They are idealists who have joined a cause because they feel that that is what they should do.

At any rate, if anyone wants to know if a person was Administrative Assistant to J. Edgar Hoover or whether he was a chief of bureau in the FBI, let a letter of inquiry be written to the proper person and place. I will be found that I am not in error in the general view that if a person worked for the FBI he has no permanent license to advertise himself as very close to the equivalent of J. Edgar Hoover. If a man's work is worthwhile, he does not need such accolade.

So much for that. The other day, I received what read like a very angry letter from M. Harvey Smedley who protests a statement of mine that the Sixth Avenue Elevated structure was sold to the Japanese prior to World War II. Mr. Smedley says of my comment:

"I agree that the subject matter was most interesting, but I am surprised that the all of these years, you have joined with several other writers in stating that the scrap iron from the Sixth Avenue L was sold to Japan prior to World War II. There is no doubt but that a large amount of steel and iron scrap was sold by Americans to Japan. Undoubtedly included in this large amount was scrap from various historic or otherwise important structures of one kind or another."

There can be no question but that large amounts of scrap iron and scrap steel were sold to Japan at this time. Smedley's point and anger have to do with the Sixth Avenue Elevated structure. He contends that his client, the Harris Structural Steel Company, did not sell the Sixth Avenue scrap steel to the Japanese. He says:

"However, not a pound of scrap from the Sixth Avenue Railroad reached Japan directly or indirectly. The contract for the demolition of this structure was made between the City of New York and Harris Structural Steel Company, Inc. about 1938. The then mayor of the City of New York, the late Fiorello H. LaGuardia, had the foresight and courage to include in this contract a guarantee that no scrap would be sold except for domestic consumption. Without going into details, a violation of this guarantee involved severe penalties."

The reason that I referred to the generally accepted report that Japanese were getting American scrap metal is that American goods are presently finding their way to our enemies. Soviet Russia, Cuba and even Red China. M. Harvey Smedley says:

"Therefore, in carrying out the terms of the contract, Harris used a very small amount of scrap in its own operations, and sold the balance of the scrap direct to the Bethlehem Steel Company, where all of it was used by Bethlehem in the production of the new steel at its plants in Pennsylvania."

It would be very sound for a congressional committee to make a thorough study of the data on the sales of American goods to enemy nations or to prospective enemies. Smedley seems absolutely sure of his facts. Then where did the Japanese get American scrap? Similarly, where is Cuba getting American goods? What do we exchange for Polish hams? What are American factories, situated in Europe, selling to our enemies and why?

The only way to get all this material is by congressional investigation and report. Let us have it.

Break Child's Larceny

By Removing Temptation

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:

How should you punish a child for stealing money? Four or five times recently my seven-year-old girl has taken change from my purse. She denied it until the last time when I faced her with the candy wrappers I had found in her bed. I spanked her good but missed a dime again yesterday.

ANSWER: The problem of a seven-year-old's theft of money is the problem of what we feel about money.

If your daughter had stolen a handful of cookies, you would have said, I hope, "All right, now I'll keep these cookies where you can't get at them without asking me for some."

If she had sneaked several sprays of perfume from your atomizer, you would not be asking me what punishment to inflict. You would, I hope, say nothing at all but just see to it that your perfume atomizer was made unavailable.

But money is that sacred thing processed by the United States Treasury Department.

Believe me, this column is not encouragement of young larceny. What I'm seeking to do is to remind you that the coins in our purses are there only because they are more convenient to carry about than the eggs, cows and wool we used to use for exchange for what we wanted from other people.

If we start valuing money for itself instead of for the food, shelter and other necessities it represents, children start over-valuing it, too, and when they feel spiteful or adventurous or covetous they will appropriate it out of awareness of its special meaning to us.

I would not punish a child for stealing money from my purse. I would just see to it that it was kept out of reach.

Children help themselves to our property continually. They bang up our furniture, use our toothpaste, turn on our lamps, and we accept these appropriations unhesitatingly. But when it comes to money we go all to pieces.

We envision a future of discreditable larceny for the child and so start over-valuing it, punishing by depriving us of it much as a primitive savage will dance with delight when he can steal an enemy's favorite fetish.

Try keeping your pocketbook out of reach. Remember money is just something people give each other in exchange for what they can use. (All rights reserved. Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Establishment of national legal standards for the right to register and vote, designation of six years of formal education as minimum qualification to determine a voter's literacy, denial of the right to vote to convicted felons and equalization of election districts—within each state highlight the new recommendations of the U. S. Commission on Civil Rights under Chairman John A. Hannah of Michigan.

This late in the session, neither President Kennedy nor the Congress will have time to read or do anything about the three fat volumes of hearings, findings and recommendations which the Civil Rights Commission has just dumped in their laps.

For unless bills now before Congress to make it a permanent organization and strengthen its authority are passed before adjournment, the commission will die on Nov. 8.

A two-year extension of its authority is a possible compromise. But even this may be bypassed if Congress gets an idea that the commission's latest findings present an extremist program.

Its volume one, "Voting" contains some bitter reading in the latter half under the heading, "Civil Rights in the Black Belt Counties."

But the remedial measures proposed do not constitute a shotgun approach aimed at the head and heart of the South. It is aimed more at all 50 states for the purpose of equalizing and standardizing "The Right to Vote," correcting conditions in the North, too. The poll tax is barely mentioned and no change is urged.

Recommendation 1 on qualifications of voters gets away from the old concept of a constitutional amendment to bar states from denying the vote except on the basis of reasonable age or residence requirements, legal confinement or conviction of a felony.

Instead, the commission recommends that Congress legislate under sections 2 and 5 of the 15th amendment that these restrictions shall not be applied in federal or state elections to deny the vote on the grounds of race or color. This goes beyond the commission's 1959 recommendations only in the felony provision.

Recommendation 2 is brand new in that it would provide a national standard of literacy as a qualification for voting. Any citizen who has completed at least six years of formal education would be deemed competent to vote, without a test.

No state has such a qualification now, although a similar recommendation was contained in the 1960 GOP platform.

Recommendation 3 calls for congressional amendment of existing law so as to prohibit any arbitrary action or arbitrary inaction where there is a duty to act—which deprives any citizen of his right to register, vote and have his vote counted. This is similar to a 1959 recommendation on which there has been no action.

Recommendation 4 is that Congress consider legislation to require that all voting districts within each of the 50 states shall be substantially equal in population. It would also seek to restrict "gerrymandering," in which political district lines are changed so as to give disproportionate strengths to various groups of voters within the district.

THIS IS NOT A BRAND-NEW IDEA. Senator Joseph Clark, D-Pa., now has a proposed constitutional amendment before Congress which would require substantially equal legislative districts, but it could not be made effective till after the 1970 census.

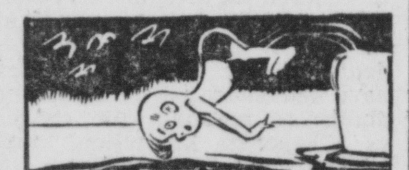

The commission recommends faster action by legislation which would give Federal courts jurisdiction over suits to enforce equal districting within a state, without depriving state courts from taking jurisdiction in such cases.

Recommendation 5 calls on Congress to direct that Bureau of the Census make nationwide compilations of voting statistics. This is to provide accurate facts on which to base election reforms. This is changed wording for a 1959 commission recommendation on which the Congress has taken no action.

BABSON on BUSINESS

By Roger W. Babson

BABSON REMINISCES IN HIS HOME TOWN

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Sept. 15.—For many years I have been planning to visit the oldest cemetery on Cape Ann. In it is buried Isabel Babson, the first Babson (or Babson) who came to this country, and from whom all Babsons here descend. When she left England, the name may have been Babson; but her signature could not be clearly read when she arrived in Salem in 1637. Hence, the name was interpreted as Babson, which she accepted, and which has been the family name ever since.

To my great disappointment, I found this old cemetery overgrown with weeds and shrubs four feet high and many of the tombstones were broken and overturned. I, however, found tombstones of the prominent families of the first hundred years of settlement on Cape Ann. I felt ashamed to find the cemetery in such a condition and I urge readers who have similar cemeteries in their towns to get them cleaned up and be sure all the headstones are erect.

Granite Versus Cement
When I was a boy, the great business of Cape Ann was granite quarries. Not only did Cape Ann granite pave the streets of large eastern cities, but the walls of city halls, banks, and other important buildings had granite facings. The wealthiest families in town were then in the granite business. There was a certain amount of fishing, but not much, as only sailboats were used and the fish were caught by lines and surface nets. Even the keenest businessmen then believed the granite business was good for a hundred or two hundred years. There certainly was granite enough, and even now there must be a million tons left.

But suddenly Portland cement became popular, and quickly took the place of granite. Sidewalk edgestones which heretofore had been made of granite were being made of concrete; walls were built of concrete; and the facings were made of concrete. As petroleum came into use about the same time, the existing paved roads were covered by either concrete or asphalt. In a few years, the great granite business of Gloucester and Cape Ann came to an end.

This causes me to wonder what other changes may now be going on. It may be that the leading industry of every city in which this column appears will be subject to similar changes. This means that your leading industrialists, and especially the Secretary of your Chamber of Commerce, must not be content with present conditions and close their eyes to new industries in the hope of thus protecting the present industries.

Inflation Is Not New
I have been interested also in reading the court records of the wills of persons who died before 1700. These appraisals would state the value of acreage, of the house, the tools, and of the hogs, cattle and horses, especially the mares. These appraisals rated a "mare" worth one pound which was equivalent to $5 in the currency of that day. As the price of a good mare today is around $200, it would appear that the currency has been devalued, or the price has increased 40 times! Furthermore, going back several centuries, we find that a country hotel charged only "two pence" for overnight compared with $3-$5 today.

When forecasting prices of the future, we are inclined to believe that a good mare will sell for several thousand dollars. It really seems that in only 50 years the prices of most commodities will be 10 times their present prices. In short, inflation is nothing new. It has always been going on and I see no reason why it should not continue. It may increase gradually, or it may increase in spurts—rising rapidly for a while, and then being followed by a period of deflation. On the other hand, we believe that each period of inflation will be greater than the last period of inflation, and that each period of deflation will be shorter than the previous period of deflation. I believe that for the next few years you will see a fairly rapid increase in inflation.

Civil Service—An open competitive examination for appointment to the position of Trooper, New York State Police, will be held on Saturday, September 30, 1961. Applications filed by mail must be postmarked not later than midnight of September 25, 1961. Applications filed in person in the office of the New York State Police must be submitted not later than midnight of September 27, 1961. Generally applicants must be United States male citizens between the ages of 21 and 29 years. There are a number of specific requirements which are in the detailed announcement for this position which may be examined in this office during regular business hours.

Insurance—Applications, complete information and premium rates are available locally in connection with adding a total disability income provision to National Service Life Insurance policies which would pay policyholders $10 a month per $1,000 of insurance held while they are totally disabled. This insurance benefit became effective November 1, 1958, and is available to all qualified NSLI policyholders. Additional premiums for the ten dollar monthly TDIP are payable in the same manner and at the same time as premiums on the term life or endowment insurance policies to which it is attached.

Legislation—Apparently the major bills to provide an increase in compensation for veterans with service-connected disabilities have bogged down in both the U. S. Senate and House of Representatives. There are now two separate measures which would provide for an increase in compensation for those veterans with service-connected disabilities. One bill is H. R. 879. This bill was passed by the House of Representatives and sent to the Senate where it was amended. The bill with the Senate amendments has been referred to the Speaker under House Rules where it is presently awaiting action. H. R. 856, originally an insurance bill, has been amended to include compensation increases for veterans with service-connected disabilities. This bill is now awaiting consideration by the full Senate.

Education—Veterans must apply for education and training benefits under the Korean G. I. Bill within three years after their separation from active service. The final date to apply for such benefits is known as the delimiting date. In those cases where the delimiting date for entrance into an education or training situation falls on a Sunday or a holiday, the requirement to be in training will be met if a veteran begins his education or training on the day following the Sunday or holiday.

Questions about the rights and benefits of veterans, servicemen or their dependents may be submitted for individual attention to the NYS Division of Veterans Affairs and the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency at 32 Main Street, Kingston, N. Y.

Additional premiums for the ten dollar monthly TDIP are payable in the same manner and at the same time as premiums on the term life or endowment insurance policies to which it is attached.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, SEPTEMBER 16, 1961

HUNTER SAFETY TRAINING

Comes now the time when nimrods venture into field and slough and forest to try their hand at bringing home the bacon with a gamey flavor. Before long there will be news stories about certain characters that appear on stage every hunting season—the fellow who didn't know his gun was loaded, the one who dropped his gun against the fence while he crawled through, the man that shot at something that moved in the woods, the hunter who left off the safety and then stumbled.

There are others of the same ilk. Not bad fellows, most of them. But careless, forgetful that the gun they carry is not a toy but a weapon capable of killing a man if it is not used properly.

The rules for handling rifle or shotgun should be thoroughly understood by all hunters. Anybody not familiar with them can quickly find out what to do and what not to do with a gun by attending a course for hunter safety to be conducted by members of 1st Howitzer Battalion, 156th Artillery, New York Army National Guard.

The Guard cooperating with the State of New York Conservation Department will hold the first session of the hunter safety training program beginning September 28 and the second session starting October 5. Classes will be conducted at the Armory on North Manor Avenue.

All individuals applying for a hunting license for the first time and those who cannot show proof of previously having been issued a hunting license must secure a certificate of competence issued upon completion of a course in hunter safety training.

Any man who knows the rules but doesn't follow them is an irresponsible citizen not fit to be armed with a gun. Hunting is a pleasure for many people each fall, but it can be death to some of them because of such irresponsibility.

THERE are four more volumes to come, covering civil rights in education, employment, housing, administration of justice. Material may be here for recommendations which the President may make to Congress next year on new civil rights legislation. But this may be the commission's last gasp.

For unless bills now before Congress to make it a permanent organization and strengthen its authority are passed before adjournment, the commission will die on Nov. 8.

A two-year extension of its authority is a possible compromise. But even this may be bypassed if Congress gets an idea that the commission's latest findings present an extremist program.

Its volume one, "Voting," contains some bitter reading in the latter half under the heading, "Civil Rights in the Black Belt States."

But the remedial measures proposed do not constitute a head and heart of the South. It is aimed more at all 50 states for the purpose of equalizing and standardizing "The Right to Vote," correcting conditions in the North, too. The poll tax is barely mentioned and no change is urged.

RECOMMENDATION 1 on qualifications of voters gets away from the old concept of a constitutional amendment to bar states from denying the vote except on the basis of reasonable age or residence requirements, legal confinement or conviction of a felony.

Instead, the commission recommends that Congress legislate under sections 2 and 5 of the 15th amendment that these restrictions shall not be applied in federal or state elections to deny the vote on the grounds of race or color. This goes beyond the commission's 1959 recommendations only in the felony provision.

Recommendation 2 is brand new in that it would provide a national standard of literacy as a qualification for voting. Any citizen who has completed at least six years of formal education would be deemed competent to vote, without a test.

No state has such a qualification now, although a similar recommendation was contained in the 1960 GOP platform.

Recommendation 3 calls for congressional amendment of existing law so as to prohibit any arbitrary action—or arbitrary inaction where there is a duty to act—which deprives any citizen of his right to register, vote and have his vote counted. This is similar to a 1959 recommendation on which there has been no action.

Recommendation 4 is that Congress consider legislation to require that all voting districts within each of the 50 states shall be substantially equal in population. It would also seek to restrict "gerrymandering," in which political district lines are changed so as to give disproportionate strengths to various groups of voters within the district.

THIS IS NOT A BRAND-NEW IDEA. Senator Joseph Clark, D-Pa., now has a proposed constitutional amendment before Congress which would require substantially equal legislative districts, but it could not be made effective till after the 1970 census.

The commission recommends faster action by legislation which would give Federal courts jurisdiction over suits to enforce equal districting within a state, without depriving state courts from taking jurisdiction in such cases.

Recommendation 5 calls on Congress to direct that Bureau of the Census make nationwide compilations of voting statistics. This is to provide accurate facts on which to base election reforms. This is changed wording for a 1959 commission recommendation on which the Congress has taken no action.

BABSON on BUSINESS

By Roger W. Babson

BABSON REMINISCES IN HIS HOME TOWN

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Sept. 15—For many years I have been planning to visit the oldest cemetery on Cape Ann. In it is buried Isabel Babson, the first Babson (or Babson) who came to this country, and from whom all Babsons here descend. When she left England, the name may have been Babson; but her signature could not be clearly read when she arrived in Salem in 1637. Hence, the name was interpreted as Babson, which she accepted, and which has been the family name ever since.

To my great disappointment, I found this old cemetery overgrown with weeds and shrubs four feet high and many of the tombstones were broken and overturned. I, however, found tombstones of the prominent families of the first hundred years of settlement on Cape Ann. I felt ashamed to find the cemetery in such a condition and I urge readers who have similar cemeteries in their towns to get them cleaned up and be sure all the headstones are erect.

Granite Versus Cement
When I was a boy, the great business of Cape Ann was granite quarries. Not only did Cape Ann granite pave the streets of large eastern cities, but the walls of the city halls, banks, and other important buildings had granite facings. The wealthiest families in town were then in the granite business. There was a certain amount of fishing, but not much, as only sailboats were used and the fish were caught by lines and surface nets. Even the keenest businessmen then believed the granite business was good for a hundred or two hundred years. There certainly was granite enough, and even now there must be a million tons left.

But suddenly Portland cement became popular, and quickly took the place of granite. Sidewalk edgestones which heretofore had been made of granite were being made of concrete; walls were built of concrete; and the facings were made of concrete. As petroleum came into use at about the same time, the existing paved roads were covered by either concrete or asphalt. In a few years, the great granite business of Gloucester and Cape Ann came to an end.

This causes me to wonder what other changes may now be going on. It may be that the leading industry of every city in which this column appears will be subject to similar changes. This means that your leading industrialists, and especially the Secretary of your Chamber of Commerce, must not be content with present conditions and close their eyes to new industries in the hope of thus protecting the present industries.

Inflation Is Not New
I have been interested also in reading the court records of the wills of persons who died before 1700. These appraisals would state the value of acreage, of the house, the tools, and of the hogs, cattle and horses—especially the mares. These appraisals rated a "mare" worth one pound . . . which was equivalent to $5 in the currency of that day. As the price of a good mare today is around $200, it would appear that the currency has been devalued, or the price has increased 40 times! Furthermore, going back several centuries, we find that a country hotel charged only "two pence" for overnight compared with $3-$5 today.

When forecasting prices of the future, we are inclined to believe that a good mare will sell for several thousand dollars. It really seems that in only 50 years the prices of most commodities will be 10 times their present prices. In short, inflation is nothing new. It has always been going on and I see no reason why it should not continue. It may increase gradually, or it may increase in spurts—rising rapidly for a while, and then being followed by a period of deflation.

On the other hand, we believe that each period of inflation will be greater than the last period of inflation, and that each period of deflation will be shorter than the previous period of deflation. I believe that for the next few years you will see a fairly rapid increase in inflation.

Civil Service—An open competitive examination for appointment to the position of Trooper, New York State Police, will be held on Saturday, September 30, 1961. Applications filed by mail must be postmarked not later than midnight of September 25, 1961. Applications filed in person in the office of the New York State Police must be submitted not later than midnight of September 27, 1961. Generally applicants must be United States male citizens between the ages of 21 and 29 years. There are a number of specific requirements which are in the detailed announcement for this position which may be examined in this office during regular business hours.

Insurance—Applications, complete information and premium rates are available locally in connection with adding a total disability income provision to National Service Life Insurance policies which would pay policyholders $10 a month per $1,000 of insurance held while they are totally disabled. This insurance benefit became effective November 1, 1958, and is available to all qualified NSLI policyholders. Additional premiums for the ten dollar monthly TDIP are payable in the same manner and at the same time as premiums on the term life or endowment insurance policies to which it is attached.

Legislation—Apparently the major bills to provide an increase in compensation for veterans with service-connected disabilities have bogged down in both the U. S. Senate and House of Representatives. There are now two separate measures which would provide for an increase in compensation for those veterans with service-connected disabilities. One bill is H. R. 879. This bill was passed by the House of Representatives and sent to the Senate where it was amended. The bill with the Senate amendments has been referred to the Speaker under House Rules where it is presently awaiting action. H. R. 856, originally an insurance bill, has been amended to include compensation increases for veterans with service-connected disabilities. This bill is now awaiting consideration by the full Senate.

Education—Veterans must apply for education and training benefits under the Korean G. I. Bill within three years after their separation from active service. The final date to apply for such benefits is known as the delimiting date. In those cases where the delimiting date for entrance into an education or training situation falls on a Sunday or a holiday, the requirement to be in training will be met if a veteran begins his education or training on the day following the Sunday or holiday.

Questions about the rights and benefits of veterans, servicemen or their dependents may be submitted for individual attention to the NYS Division of Veterans Affairs and the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency at 32 Main Street, Kingston, N. Y.

10-Year-Old Program Started by Dewey

Disaster Hospitals Are Set Up For Armed Attack, Emergency

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Should nuclear attack or other major disaster strike, New York State has stockpiles of medical equipment and supplies ready throughout the state.

Medical teams have been trained to establish emergency hospitals. The program, now 10 years old, was outlined Friday by the State Health Department. Its highlights:

Near Potential Target

—Supplies have been stored at state hospitals, prisons and public buildings near potential target areas. In theory, these depots are within an hour's drive of any place in the state, but disaster conditions could cause delays.

—About 250 hospitals and 2,900 aid stations could be set up near disaster areas with supplies taken from the storage depots. Two hundred of the hospitals would be established in areas away from depots and would be manned by teams of 76 persons each, including doctors, nurses, technicians and aides. Another 50 hospitals, provided by the federal government, would be set up at the depots. These would be staffed by 60-man teams.

$18 Million Investment
The investment in equipment and supplies is $18 million, the department said, about a third contributed by the federal government.

Approximately half of the supplies are stored in the New York City-Long Island area, but only about 25 per cent of the trained personnel are there. Department officials said training was being stepped up in that area. But if that section were hit, Upstate teams would be used. The department said it hoped eventually to train at least 400 teams. The program was launched during the administration of former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Choose . . .

Mona Smith of Schenectady, modeling school director; John A. McCullough of Kingston, concert soloist and architect; Harrison Muller of Woodstock, stage and TV dancing star and Mrs. Roy Wulff of Kingston, former dress model.

Joseph Bosco served as master of ceremonies, and Mrs. Judy MacIsaac, a former Miss Massachusetts, supplied the commentary for the evening gown and swim suit competitions.

The backdrop for the pageant is a colonial scene complete with waterwheel.

More than 500 attended the opening night program. A full house is anticipated for tonight's finale. Some tickets are still available at the door, according to Albert Conte, director.

Vigna to Play
The coronation ball will be held in the high school gym following the crowning of Miss Saugerties of 1962, Frank Vigna and his orchestra will play.

Kathryn T. Moden of Buffalo, this year's Miss New York State will participate in the program tonight. Miss Moden will do a presentation for the gathering and will also present the award to the Miss Congeniality winner. All 11 contestants competed in both talent and swim suit tests.

The talent competition also featured 17-year-old blonde, Patricia Sloboda, who sang "Mr. Wonderful" in a well-prepared presentation. Pennie Pettenger, the blond blue-eyed preliminary swim suit winner, for her talent offering did a well-presented dramatic reading of Edna St. Vincent Millay's Ballad of the Hearse Weaver. The two are neighbors on Robinson Street in the village.

Favored by Audience
Also receiving favorable audience reaction was the presentation of 17-year-old Alice Brooks, a blue-eyed blond of the village, who did an interpretive dance, Beatnik on Broadway.

Another village young lady, Joan Faulkner, 17, did a presentation on fashion designing and showed her fall wardrobe. Another blue-eyed blond, Susan Atkins, 17, of Timberlake, performed in an acrobatic number.

Janice Bennett, 18, of the village, presented a monologue which was barely audible due to difficulties with the auditorium's public address system.

A West Saugerties girl, 17-year-old Dolores Benson did an interpretive dance for her talent presentation.

Showed Art Hobby
Erma Francello, 19, of Glasco presented an exhibition of charcoal sketching and showed some of her paintings with commentary.

An 18-year-old Whittier girl, Virginia Poythress gave a short demonstration on artificial flowers.

Florence Ann McDermott of Mt. Marion opened the talent competition with a piano selection.

To Award Scholarship

The Miss Saugerties title winner will receive a $350 scholarship and be entered in the Miss New York State pageant to be held in Kingston in July. Trophies will be awarded tonight to the three finalists and bracelets will be awarded to Miss Congeniality and the non-winners among the five finalists.

The program this evening will include a feature attraction, a Gay 90's medley by Catskill Glee Club, Donald S. Fellows, director.

Scientists of 11 Nations Agree On Disarmament

STOWE, Vt. (AP) — Scientists from 11 nations — including the United States and Russia — have reached tentative accord on disarmament proposals in five major areas, spokesmen for the eighth Conference on Science and World Affairs said Friday.

The proposals will face a vote today as the conference holds its final meeting. Dr. Harrison Brown, a geophysicist from California Institute of Technology, said some of the proposals are "considerably ahead of any government agreements" in nuclear disarmament.

The test ban issue is very difficult, and hangs over everyone's head," Brown said. The tentative agreements won't be made public here unless they are ratified at today's session, Brown said.

But Brown, a National Aeronautics and Space Administration consultant, said there is a possibility some of the proposals would be submitted to the United Nations when it begins disarmament discussions next week, even if they are not approved by the full meeting.

Brown said some accord has been reached on nuclear testing, atomic stockpiling and production, control of missile and bomber delivery systems, steps in arms reduction and methods of clearing the way for disarmament negotiations.

Wilm Stresses

serves tracts should be set aside as wilderness areas and closed to vehicles and motorboats.

Some 91,000 acres of wild lands in the Catskill region, 76,600 acres of which are mostly in Ulster County would be subject to the new law if passed.

The tracts involved in this area are Slide and Panther Mountains, west of Ashokan Reservoir, about 40,600 acres; Doubleton-Big Indian Mountain, west of Big Indian-Frost Valley Road, about 20,300 acres; and Plateau-Indian Head Mountain, east of the Hunter-Phoenicia Road, about 15,700 acres, part of which is in Greene County.

Other Hearings Set
Recreational opportunities permitted in the wilderness areas would include hunting, fishing, camping, mountain climbing, hiking, nature study, photography, geological exploration, canoeing and swimming.

The next hearings are scheduled in Buffalo, Dec. 8; Rochester, Dec. 9; New York City, Jan. 11 and Albany, Jan. 13.

The bill is aimed at halting jeep, plane and other motorized traffic in "wilderness areas" which may be created deep in Forest Preserve lands.

Commissioner Wilm's statement followed numerous assertions at a public hearing held earlier this week in Ulster that "the Conservation Department already has the authority it needs under the State Constitution" to ban motorized equipment in the Forest Preserve.

Says Power Ambiguous
He said that the authority to administer and enforce such a ban "remains ambiguous" under the 75-year-old constitutional amendment which states simply that the Forest Preserve shall remain "forever wild."

"This ambiguity is one of the basic reasons for the proposed legislation — to clarify the department's authority for certain activities over which there is, now some doubt," Commissioner Wilm said.

The proposed legislation, subject to redrafting after the public hearings, would:

— Spell out the Conservation Department's authority to regulate or prohibit use of motorized vehicles or equipment within remote wilderness parts of the Forest Preserve.

— Define the limited areas in which such rulings could apply. Permit the closing of certain old, neglected roads in remote areas, many of which no longer even appear on maps.

Storm Damage High
Output during the week fell to an estimated 62,000 cars from 85,515 the previous week.

Estimates of property and crop damage from the hurricane ran as high as $200 million. Refining and petrochemical plants in East Texas were hard hit by the winds and flood waters.

The heads of big steel companies replied to the President's call for price stability. They didn't say they would raise prices but they didn't say they wouldn't.

All emphasized that prices haven't been boosted in three years despite two wage hikes and a third coming up Oct. 1.

Steel production during the week increased for the sixth straight week, totaling 2,032,000 tons, up 2,000 tons over the previous week. Orders were reported being received at the best rate of the year.

The Federal Reserve Board reported industrial production attained another record in August, when its index reached 113 per cent of the 1947 average. This compared with 112 in July, a recession low of 102 in February, and 108 in August 1960.

Spending to Gain
The Commerce Department predicted that spending by business for new plants and equipment would reach an annual rate of $34.8 billion in the third quarter, $200 million more than it forecast in June.

Ford Motor Co. announced plans to buy Philco Co. for stock worth about $100 million. Philco's annual sales of radios, television sets, appliances and electronic equipment exceed $400 million.

This week's sales on the New York Stock Exchange totaled 14,897,300 shares compared with 13,785,727 the week before. Bond sales on the exchange this week were $28,012,000 (par value) compared with $22,464,000 the previous week.

Body Found After Fire

REDWOOD, N. Y. (AP)—The body of Larry Bastian, 21, of Fairport was discovered today after a fire and explosion destroyed a summer cottage on Crystal Lake, about one mile south of this Jefferson County community.

The cause of death was not immediately determined. An autopsy was ordered.

The cottage was owned by Bastian's father, Cecil Bastian, and two other Fairport men. The younger Bastian was alone in the small dwelling.

Deputy Sheriff Jack Leuze said the fire may have been started by a faulty electric water heater. The flames set off an explosion of a tank of liquid petroleum gas used for cooking.

Cement Workers Return to Jobs At Alpha Plant

Work will be resumed on full production schedule Monday at Alpha Portland Cement Corporation cement mill at Cementon after a layoff of two weeks, according to Frank Marcon, plant superintendent.

A force of 145 men has been recalled to work. The layoff began on Sept. 5. The plant employs about 200 men. Shipping and office staffs were not affected by the production halt.

Allen Uhler, plant superintendent of Lehigh Portland Cement Corp. stated that plans for returning furloughed workers have been made. The plant furloughed 52 men late last month in a production cutoff.

The layoffs were attributed to the long strike of transit mix concrete truck drivers in New York City and a generally low volume of business. The New York strike ended prior to Labor Day.

It was the 104th nuclear explosion at the Nevada proving grounds. The 103rd shot was set off nearly three years ago.

There were no reporters present at the blast. The White House had announced that no on-the-scene coverage by news media would be permitted at future U.S. nuclear tests.

Word of the blast was flashed to Washington over an open telephone line from the test site. Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, who relayed it over a direct line to the President at the White House.

But at Las Vegas a sonic boom from a fast flying airplane 28 minutes after the blast was mistaken for the nuclear explosion.

Kennedy Victor In Senate Vote On Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy scored a victory as Senators restored almost all House cuts in the foreign aid money bill. Now Senate and House conferees will try to compromise the $333-million difference.

By a 62-17 vote Friday, the Senate approved $4.20 billion for foreign aid, restoring all but $63 million of the $396 million slashed from the bill by the House.

The aid funds are included in an over-all money bill of $4.42 billion, carrying funds for foreign assistance programs and related projects. One item is $40 million asked by Kennedy for his Peace Corps.

By unanimous voice vote, Senators adopted an amendment opposing aid to nations professing neutrality who actually take sides against the West. The amendment, offered by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., reflected the concern expressed by President Kennedy over the refusal of nonaligned nations to criticize the Soviet Union for resumption of nuclear testing in the atmosphere.

The Senate version of the foreign aid money bill would give Kennedy the full $1.2 billion he asked for economic development loans abroad this year. The President says he considers the loan fund for struggling nations the heart of his new foreign aid program.

Rosendale, Paltz, Shawangunk GOP List Caucus Slate

Rosendale, New Paltz and Shawangunk Republicans nominated full slates for town elections. New Paltz and Shawangunk caucused Friday and Rosendale on Thursday.

Shawangunk Republicans had a record turnout for their caucus held at Walker Valley Firehouse when they picked a slate of town officers for the November 7 election.

Nominated were:
McHugh Named

Supervisor, Jesse McHugh of Walkkill; town clerk, Elizabeth Hennesfahr of Walkkill; assessor, Walter Smith of Walkkill; assessor, two years, Herman Mahlandt of Walkkill; superintendent of highways, Russell Terwilliger of RD 2, Pine Bush; justice of peace, Arthur Vosage of Walker Valley; councilman, James P. Warner of RD 2, Pine Bush; committee on vacancies, Harold Butler of Walkkill, Francis Garrison of Walkkill and Fred Grau of Walker Valley.

More than 200 attended the Rosendale Republican Caucus at Rosendale Grange Hall.

Name Full Slate
John Delora of Tillson was nominated for the office of town supervisor.

Others on the slate are Miss Lillian Hyatt, Rosendale, town clerk; Mrs. William Farrell, Maple Hill, tax collector; John Markle, Bloomington, incumbent, highway superintendent; Ferdinand Fiedler, Rosendale, assessor four years, and Walter Keator, assessor two years, both incumbents; Raymond LeFever, Bloomington, justice of the peace, and Arthur Merrihue, Tillson, incumbent, councilman.

GOP Justice of the Peace Edward Brodsky served as chairman of the meeting and Elsie Ingram was secretary.

The next meeting of Rosendale Republican Club will be held Tuesday, Sept. 26. District Attorney David W. Corwin will be the principal speaker.

Peter J. Savago was renominated for the post of supervisor by New Paltz Republican caucus held in the truck room of New Paltz Firehouse.

Some 350 persons jammed the hall to select the Republican standard bearers at the November 7 election.

Nominated without opposition, in addition to Savago, were:

Couple Is Held For Grand Jury In Forgery Case

David Carter, 46, and his wife, Betty Jane Carter, 34, were held for grand jury action Friday night on charges of forgery second degree in a bad check case.

Police said the pair whose last known address was Miami, Fla. had been visiting in the area with friends made while Carter was an equipment salesman working out of New York City.

Deputy Sheriff Thomas Mayone said that while the couple was at the home of C. Victor Spinnenweber of Port Ewen, they took several checks. He said Mrs. Carter forged Spinnenweber's name to them and four have turned up.

A warrant was issued for Carter's arrest and the couple was found by state troopers in Fishkill. Further investigation, Deputy Sheriff Mayone said indicated that Mrs. Carter had signed the checks and a warrant was issued for her arrest.

They were brought before Judge Allen Dargie in Esopus where they waived examination and were held for Grand Jury action. They were taken to Ulster County Jail. Deputy Sheriff Longyear assisted Mayone in the investigation.

training and supervising the instructors, enlisting the support of parents in the enrollment of pupils, and formulating plans for expansion of this program.

The first instruction under this new released time program will commence Oct. 11 at Trinity Methodist Church, 27 Wurts Street. Classes will initially be provided for pupils of School 3, Grades 3 through 6.

The experience gained through this pilot project and the degree of success achieved, will be important factors in determining the rate and direction of expansion which the program will take. The objective of the Kingston Area Council of Churches is to ultimately make this program of released time religious education throughout the entire community.

Mr. and Mrs. Gillett have three children, Sylvia, Donald and William.

UAW in Session

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers union's International Executive Board gathered here today for a special meeting while the union and strike-plagued General Motors Corp. plodded toward settlement of local-level issues across the country.

Early today 68 plants with workers represented by the UAW had settled and three represented by the International Union of Electrical Workers also had reached agreement. GM has 129 plants represented by the UAW and six by the IUE.

Rocky's Son-in-Law Given 4-Month Term

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The son-in-law of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and 14 other Episcopal clergymen faced a weekend in jail today instead of attending their church convention. The ministers—12 white persons and three Negroes — were convicted Friday night on charges of breach of the peace for attempting to desegregate a bus terminal white waiting room.

The ministers, including Rockefeller's son-in-law, the Rev. Robert L. Pierson, 35, of New York City and Evanston, Ill. were fined $200 and sentenced to four months in jail.

The same weekend fate didn't face Yale University Chaplain William S. Coffin, a Presbyterian, or nine other "Freedom Riders," convicted on breach of peace charges in Montgomery, Ala. Judge Alex Marks ordered fines of $100 and jail terms ranging from 10 to 90 days for that group Friday night. They immediately posted appeal bond of $750 to $1,000 and were released.

10-Year-Old Program Started by Dewey

Disaster Hospitals Are Set Up For Armed Attack, Emergency

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Should nuclear attack or other major disaster strike, New York State has stockpiles of medical equipment and supplies ready throughout the state.

Medical teams have been trained to establish emergency hospitals.

The program, now 10 years old, was outlined Friday by the State Health Department. Its highlights:

Near Potential Target — Supplies have been stored at state hospitals, prisons and public buildings near potential target areas. In theory, these depots are within an hour's drive of any place in the state, but disaster conditions could cause delays.

About 250 hospitals and 2,900 aid stations could be set up near disaster areas with supplies taken from the storage depots. Two hundred of the hospitals would be established in areas away from depots and would be manned by teams of 76 persons each, including doctors, nurses, technicians and aides. Another 50 hospitals, provided by the federal government, would be set up at the depots. These would be staffed by 60-man teams.

$18 Million Investment The investment in equipment and supplies is $18 million, the department said, about a third contributed by the federal government.

Approximately half of the supplies are stored in the New York City-Long Island area, but only about 25 per cent of the trained personnel are there. Department officials said training was being stepped up in that area. But if that section were hit, Upstate teams would be used.

The department said it hoped eventually to train at least 400 teams.

The program was launched during the administration of former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Choose . . .

Mona Smith of Schenectady, modeling school director; John A. McCullough of Kingston, concert soloist and architect; Harrison Muller of Woodstock, stage and TV dancing star and Mrs. Roy Wulff of Kingston, former dress model.

Joseph Bosco served as master of ceremonies, and Mrs. Judy MacIsaac, a former Miss Massachusetts, supplied the commentary for the evening gown and swim suit competitions.

The backdrop for the pageant is a colonial scene complete with waterwheel.

More than 500 attended the opening night program. A full-house is anticipated for tonight's finale. Some tickets are still available at the door, according to Albert Conte, director.

Vigna to Play

The coronation ball will be held in the high school gym following the crowning of Miss Saugerties of 1962, Frank Vigna and his orchestra will play.

Kathryn T. Moden of Buffalo, this year's Miss New York State will participate in the program tonight. Miss Moden will do a presentation for the gathering and will also present the award to the Miss Congeniality winner.

All 11 contestants competed in both talent and swim suit tests.

The talent competition also featured 17-year-old blonde, Patricia Sloboda, who sang "Mr. Wonderful" in a well-prepared presentation. Pennie Pettenger, the blond blue-eyed preliminary swim suit winner, for her talent offering did a well-presented dramatic reading of Edna St. Vincent Millay's Ballad of the Hearse Weaver. The two are neighbors on Robinson Street in the village.

Favored by Audience

Also receiving favorable audience reaction was the presentation of 17-year-old Alice Brooks, a blue-eyed blond of the village, who did an interpretive dance, Beatnik on Broadway.

Another village young lady, Joan Faulkner, 17, did a presentation on fashion designing and showed her fall wardrobe.

Another blue-eyed blond, Susan Atkins, 17, of Timberlake, performed in an acrobatic number.

Janice Bennett, 18, of the village, presented a monologue which was barely audible due to difficulties with the auditorium's public address system.

A West Saugerties girl, 17-year-old Dolores Benson did an interpretive dance for her talent presentation.

Showed Art Hobby

Erma Francello, 19, of Glasco presented an exhibition of charcoal sketching and showed some of her paintings with commentary.

An 18-year-old Whittier girl, Virginia Poythress gave a short demonstration on artificial flowers.

Florence Ann McDermott of Mt. Marion opened the talent competition with a piano selection.

An organ overture was played by Mrs. Jeannette Harris, who also provided the music for the promenade and swim suit test.

To Award Scholarship

The Miss Saugerties title winner will receive a $350 scholarship and be entered in the Miss New York State pageant to be held in Kingston in July. Trophies will be awarded tonight to the three finalists and bracelets will be awarded to Miss Congeniality and the non-winners among the five finalists.

The program this evening will include a feature attraction, a Gay 90's medley by Catskill Glee Club. Donald S. Fellows, director.

Report TV Stolen

Louis Rota, of 261 East Chester Street, told police Friday that someone stole a television set from a house at 45 Hudson Street, where he is doing some work. A cellar door was broken open, police said. The TV was valued at $100.

Scientists of 11 Nations Agree On Disarmament

STOWE, Vt. (AP) — Scientists from 11 nations — including the United States and Russia — have reached tentative accord on disarmament proposals in five major areas, a spokesman for the eighth Conference on Science and World Affairs said Friday.

The proposals will face a vote today as the conference holds its final meeting.

Dr. Harrison Brown, a geophysicist from California Institute of Technology, said some of the proposals are "considerably ahead of any government agreements" in nuclear disarmament.

"The test ban issue is very difficult and hangs over everyone's head," Brown said.

The tentative agreements won't be made public here unless they are ratified at today's session, Brown said.

But Brown, a National Aeronautics and Space Administration consultant, said there is a possibility some of the proposals would be submitted to the United Nations when it begins disarmament discussions next week, even if they are not approved by the full meeting.

Brown said some accord has been reached on nuclear testing, atomic stockpiling and production, control of missile and bomber delivery systems, steps in arms reduction and methods of clearing the way for disarmament negotiations.

Wilm Stresses

services should be set aside as wilderness areas and closed to vehicles and motorboats.

Some 91,000 acres of wild lands in the Catskill region, 76,600 acres of which are mostly in Ulster County would be subject to the new law if passed.

The tracts involved in this area are Slide and Panther Mountains, west of Ashokan Reservoir, about 40,600 acres; Doubleton-Big-Indian Mountain, west of Big Indian-Frost Valley Road, about 20,300 acres, and Plateau-Indian Head Mountain, east of the Hunter-Phoenicia Road, about 15,700 acres, part of which is in Greene County.

Other Hearings Set

Recreational opportunities permitted in the wilderness areas would include hunting, fishing, camping, mountain climbing, hiking, nature study, photography, geological exploration, canoeing and swimming.

The next hearings are scheduled in Buffalo, Dec. 8; Rochester, Dec. 9; New York City, Jan. 11 and Albany, Jan. 13.

The bill is aimed at halting jeep, plane and other motorized traffic in "wilderness areas" which may be created deep in Forest Preserve lands.

Commissioner Wilm's statement followed numerous assertions at a public hearing held earlier this week in Ulster that the "conservation department" already has the authority it needs under the State Constitution to ban motorized equipment in the Forest Preserve.

Says Power Ambiguous

He said that the authority to administer and enforce such a ban "remains ambiguous" under the 75-year-old constitutional amendment which states simply that the Forest Preserve shall remain "forever wild."

"This ambiguity is one of the basic reasons for the proposed legislation—to clarify the department's authority for certain activities over which there is now some doubt," Commissioner Wilm said.

The proposed legislation, subject to redrafting after the public hearings, would:

Spell out the Conservation Department's authority to regulate or prohibit use of motorized vehicles or equipment within remote wilderness parts of the Forest Preserve.

Define the limited areas in which such rulings could apply.

Permit the closing of certain old, neglected roads in remote areas, many of which no longer even appear on maps.

Cement Workers Return to Jobs At Alpha Plant

Work will be resumed on full production schedule Monday at Alpha Portland Cement Corporation cement mill at Cementon after a layoff of two weeks, according to Frank Marcon, plant superintendent.

A force of 145 men has been recalled to work. The layoff began on Sept. 5. The plant employs about 200 men. Shipping and office staffs were not affected by the production halt.

Allen Uhler, plant superintendent of Lehigh Portland Cement Corp. stated that his plans for returning furloughed workers have been made. The plant furloughed 52 men late last month in a production cutoff.

The layoffs were attributed to the long strike of transit mix concrete truck drivers in New York City and a generally low volume of business. The New York strike ended prior to Labor Day.

A University of California seismologist reported that his seismograph had recorded the earthquake from the blast. He said its magnitude on the earthquake scale of reckoning was 4. That would be a moderate earthquake.

104th in Nevada

It was the 104th nuclear explosion at the Nevada proving grounds. The 103rd shot was set off nearly three years ago.

There were no reporters present at the blast. The White House had announced that no on-the-scene coverage by news media would be permitted at future U.S. nuclear tests.

Word of the blast was flashed to Washington over an open telephone line from the test site to Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, who relayed it over a direct line to the President at the White House.

But at Las Vegas a sonic boom from a fast flying airplane 28 minutes after the blast was mistaken for the nuclear explosion.

In the old days of testing—before October 1958—mighty flashes, mushroom clouds and devastating bombs rewarded viewers who turned out to watch the show.

One of the major problems before Rusk and the foreign ministers has been what counteraction to take if the Reds undertake new moves.

Officials said that plans actually developed must be preserved in official secrecy until put into effect.

From other sources it appeared that military, political and economic steps have been worked out in considerable detail and presumably cover such actions as cracking down on East-West trade and protecting air traffic in the Berlin corridors with Western fighter planes. Two instances of Soviet buzzing of U.S. airliners on Berlin flights were reported by the State Department Thursday.

Lane and the Ulster County Civil Defense office for the explanation of the timely subject.

At the present time practically all of the squadron's personnel are Civil Defense volunteers who have assisted Civil Defense in both tests and actual emergencies. The squadron ambulance has been offered for Civil Defense use, if and when needed. Many of the members also are trained in First Aid.

Body Found After Fire

REDWOOD, N. Y. (AP)—The body of Larry Bastian, 21, of Fairport was discovered today after a fire and explosion destroyed a summer cottage on Crystal Lake, about one mile south of this Jefferson County community.

The cause of death was not immediately determined. An autopsy was ordered.

The cottage was owned by Bastian's father, Cecil Bastian, and two other Fairport men. The younger Bastian was alone in the small dwelling.

Deputy Sheriff Jack Leuze said the fire may have been started by a faulty electric water heater. The flames set off an explosion of a tank of liquid petroleum gas used for cooking.

Girl and Woman Hurt In Fall From Vehicles

A 16-year-old Highland girl was critically injured Friday at 4:50 p. m. when she fell from a pickup truck as a door swung open near Highland, and a 20-year-old Kingston woman was injured early today when she fell from a moving vehicle at Albany Avenue and Broadway.

State Trooper Wallace Mahan, Highland, said Patricia Rhodes, of Highland, was a passenger in a pickup truck owned by Charles Weaver of Bailey's Gap Road, Highland, and operated by Raymond Brown Jr., 58, same address when she fell to the pavement.

Hits Head on Pavement

Mahan said Brown was driving the 1950 vehicle east on Route 44-55 when the right door swung open on a curve and the girl fell from the truck hitting her head on the pavement. The girl was taken by ambulance to St. Francis' Hospital, Poughkeepsie, where she was treated for a fractured skull and admitted.

Troopers said the girl's condition was described as critical. Arlene Ruland, 17, Highland, also was a passenger in the truck. Leona Alice Rowles, 20, of 2 Post Street, Kingston, was injured at 1:35 a. m. today when she fell from a car operated by Henry Albert Rowles, 27, of 2 Post Street. She was taken to Kingston Hospital and treated for injuries of the right side, both elbows and right wrist, according to Patrolman Leon Fitzgerald.

After Turn Made

Police said Rowles was driving a 1953 sedan south on Broadway and after stopping for a red flashing light at Albany Avenue he started to make a left turn. The right door swung open and Mrs. Rowles fell to the pavement. The car was going 15 to 20 miles an hour at the time.

The sedan was owned by Christine Oliver of 83 Franklin Street, police said.

Two Minor Fires

Short circuits in light fixtures resulted in calls for firemen Friday at 6:55 p. m. and today at 3:12 a. m.

Firemen from Wiltwyck station went to the Standard Furniture Co. store, 267 Fair Street, last night and shut off a switch after a short circuit was discovered in a light fixture.

Engine 2 and Truck 2 from Wiltwyck station and Engine 1 and Truck 1 from Central station were at the scene. Wicks Salvage, Excelsior and Wiltwyck volunteers apparatus was dispatched but called back by radio when it was not needed.

Study Gas Service

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Public Service Commission said today it was determining whether it would be economically feasible for private utilities to extend natural-gas service to seven Steuben County communities.

The commission said it was acting because of requests from 218 residents of Kanona, Avoca, Savona, Cohocton, Wallace, Hammondsport and Jasper.

The survey will involve the Columbia Gas of New York Inc., Gorming Natural Gas Corp., Empire Gas & Fuel Co., New York State Electric and Gas Corp., Southern Tier Gas Corp. and Bath Electric, Gas and Water Systems.

These will be invited to present their views at a public hearing. No date has been set.

Sentenced to Jail

A 51-year-old man pleaded guilty today before City Judge Aaron E. Klein to disorderly conduct and was sentenced to the Ulster County Jail for 180 days, according to police.

Edward Robbins, of 7 West Strand, was arrested Friday at 10:10 p. m. by Patrolman Leon Fitzgerald, who accused the defendant of shouting and using profanity at the Trailways bus terminal.

Get Gas for Smokes

BERLIN (AP) — West Berliners threw packets of cigarettes over the Communist wall as gifts Friday and got four tear gas grenades from East Berlin in reply, police reported.

The incident occurred near the Treptow Bridge in the West Berlin borough of Neukölln.

Rosendale, Paltz, Shawangunk GOP List Caucus Slate

Rosendale, New Paltz and Shawangunk Republicans nominated full slates for town elections. New Paltz and Shawangunk caucused Friday and Rosendale on Thursday.

Shawangunk Republicans had a record turnout for their caucus held at Walker Valley Firehouse when they picked a slate of town officers for the November 7 election.

Nominated were:

McHugh Named

Supervisor, Jesse McHugh of Walkkill; town clerk, Elizabeth Hemmehaff of Walkkill; assessor four years, Walter Smith of Walkkill; assessor two years, Herman Mahlandt of Walkkill; superintendent of highways, Russell Terwilliger of RD 2, Pine Bush; justice of peace, Arthur Voshage of Walker Valley; councilman, James P. Warner of RD 2, Pine Bush; committee on vacancies, Harold Butler of Walkkill, Francis Garrison of Walkkill and Fred Grau of Walker Valley.

More than 200 attended the Rosendale Republican Caucus at Rosendale Grange Hall.

Name Full Slate

John Delora of Tilton was nominated for the office of town supervisor.

Others on the slate are Miss Lillian Hyatt, Rosendale, town clerk; Mrs. William Farrell, Maple Hill, tax collector; John Markie, Bloomington, incumbent, highway superintendent; Ferdinand Fiedler, Rosendale, assessor four years, and Walter Keator, assessor two years, both incumbents; Raymond LeFevre, Bloomington, justice of the peace, and Arthur Merrihue, Tilton, incumbent, councilman.

GOP Justice of the Peace Edward Brodsky served as chairman of the meeting and Elsie Ingram was secretary.

The next meeting of Rosendale Republican Club will be held Tuesday, Sept. 26. District Attorney David W. Corwin will be the principal speaker.

Peter J. Savago was renominated for the post of supervisor by New Paltz Republican caucus held in the truck room of New Paltz Firehouse.

Some 350 persons jammed the hall to select the Republican standard bearers at the November 7 election.

Nominated without opposition, in addition to Savago, were: Town Clerk, Theodore E. Lasher; Assessors, Alfred B. Heiser, William Schmalhaue and Howard Grimm; Superintendent of Highways, Isaac Pole; Justice of Peace, John B. Tengel; Councilman, Robert Elting; committee on vacancies, Edward Frija, Rex Schneider and Emma Tantillo.

Couple Is Held For Grand Jury In Forgery Case

David Carter, 46, and his wife, Betty Jane Carter, 34, were held for grand jury action Friday night on charges of forgery second degree in a bad check case.

Terwilliger Is To Run Again in Rochester Town

A Richard Terwilliger of Kerhonkson was renominated for the post of supervisor of the Town of Rochester at the Republican Caucus held Thursday night in the Hotel Granite convention hall.

Other nominees, all of whom were unopposed, included:

Town Clerk, Eileen Roslyn Baker of Accord; Collector, LeRoy C. Keller of Accord; Superintendent of Highways, Richard T. Gray of Kerhonkson; Assessor for four years, Warry Krom; Assessor for two years, Arthur Weinstein of Accord; Justice of Peace, Abram D. Smith of Kerhonkson and Councilman Ross Juddington of Accord.

In accepting the nomination, Terwilliger pointed out "the vast improvement in many local departments of government under the Republican administration." He further stated, "All problems can be successfully solved by placing these Republican candidates in office again this fall because they have the will, the ability and four years of valuable experience. The record proves they have lowered the town budget and given the people more miles of new and resurfaced highways for less money than ever before." He thanked the people for their confidence in him.

Percy W. Gazley II, who acted as chairman of the caucus called for a vote of thanks for Max Geller for use of the convention hall and for Mrs. Flossie Feltman and ladies of the Town of Rochester Republican Club for the refreshments.

Northway Section Will Open Monday

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The State will open a 2½-mile section at the northern end of the Adirondack Northway on Monday.

The section, costing $3.12 million, is between the Canadian border and the village of Champlain, Clinton County.

A 17-mile section from Champlain south to the Plattsburgh bypass on the Northway is being constructed.

With the opening of the Champlain section, 36 miles of the Northway will be in use. The highway, when completed, will stretch 175 miles between Albany and the Canadian border.

UCLA said he is the youngest student ever to enroll there, and was admitted chiefly on a basis of high college board test scores.

Nixon Still Mum

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Another effort by California Republican leaders to get former Vice President Richard M. Nixon to run for governor ended just like the others—with a question mark.

Twenty-four Republicans talked to the 1960 GOP presidential candidate for 7½ hours Thursday. All urged him to run, a spokesman said.

The spokesman offered his impression that Nixon knows what he's going to do but said he didn't commit himself.

Give the Bathroom That Cooler Look

Try a trick from the tropics and pick white shower curtains for summer. This gives the whole bathroom an airy, ever-so-cool look much appreciated during a heat wave. To keep shower curtains spotless, just give them a soapy bath now and then right in the tub. Don't squeeze or wring them! Rinse well and hang to dry right on the shower rod.

Impressive Living Room Gives Air of Solidity

By JACK McLENEY

Perhaps the thing that strikes you first about "The Fields" is its living room, which stretches like a panorama from the front of the house to the rear. But it has more than impressive size to offer: its beamed ceiling gives the living room an air of solid construction, and is enhanced by picture windows at both ends of the room and the fireplace.

The living room is actually the center of the house, both physically and in actual use. It is a place for relaxation as well as entertaining. Moreover, this room separates the sleeping quarters effectively from the dining and activities area. Both are splendidly isolated from each other as they should be.

Let's look at the bedrooms. There are three, all with ample floor space and closet room. They have windows suited to their size, so that light and natural ventilation are adequately provided.

This is a versatile house plan. As far as the bedrooms are concerned, you may build only two bedrooms instead of the three shown in the plan; this won't affect the appearance of the house from the front, and it will enable you to add the third bedroom at a later time. The bath is located in the bedroom wing, and in addition to the usual equipment, has its own separate towel closet. A spacious linen closet, just outside, serves all bedrooms.

The front door opens on a vestibule, which leads to the living room and the kitchen. This desirable arrangement serves to deflect drafts as people come into the house. For the convenience of family and guests, there is a coat closet in the vestibule.

The kitchen is compact without being crowded. As housewives will notice immediately, the kitchen faces the front, an arrangement that is becoming increasingly popular. It gives a clear view to the front walk and lawn.

The kitchen and dining room are separated by the stairwell to the basement (in the version of this plan without a basement, this area becomes a heater room, thus preserving the separation). This beautifully lighted dining room may double as a family activities room; it is handy to the outside, and youngsters particularly can make full use of this room without having to dash in and out of the front door.

Added storage is available at the back of the carport, where there is a large closet.

Plans for "The Fields" are available at reasonable cost; they may be ordered by using the accompanying coupon. Be sure to check if you want plans with or without basement.

Roller Coater Makes Painting Job Easy

It's easy to apply paint to smooth wall surfaces with the aid of a roller coater. There are two types—the sort you dip in paint and the "self-feeder." Some of the latter are made so you can place as much as a quart of paint inside the roller. While rollers come in various lengths, the seven-inch one is usually the most popular. One pioneering painter has even attached a mop handle tightly to his roller and thus simplified the task of painting a high ceiling.

Fall Painting, How to Do It?

By MR. FIX

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Which will you use for your fall painting jobs—a brush or a roller? Or will you try for extra speed and use a sprayer?

Although there are surfaces that can be painted with any of the three—a large flat surface for example—you will find that one type will be more suitable for a particular job than another.

Brushes are the oldest of the three and although a certain amount of skill is necessary the average user can generally acquire enough skill to do a passable job.

Buy good brushes to begin with. They are worth the extra dollars in terms of the better job they will do and the extra years they will last. Of course, how long they last depends on the care you give them. Essentially, all this means is cleaning them immediately when you finish painting.

For the ordinary house siding, a brush is the best choice. And for trim—around doors, windows—the brush is just about the only choice.

Big Brush

Us as big a brush as you can handle providing the surface you are painting isn't too narrow. A four inch brush will speed your work. But keep small trim brushes handy for the hard to get at spots. Squeezing a large brush into a tight corner will also squeeze the life out of it.

The roller has been the greatest boon to amateur painters in years. Just dip and roll the paint on without worry over brush marks. Not only are they easy to use, but they also are fast. For close work you will still need a brush. Rollers just won't go where wall meets cell-ing, not without some messy smearing.

Rolling It On

Use the roller indoors on plaster walls or paneled walls, outside on brick walls (which would tear brush bristles). A roller also can save time when painting a wire fence.

Whether you use mohair, lamb's wool (really a synthetic) or sponge rubber, be sure to clean immediately. A deep nap will get into the cracks of a rough surface.

Get the type of roller on which the cover slides over a cylinder. They're easy to take apart and clean. With several covers on hand you can change colors easily.

Terwilliger Is To Run Again in Rochester Town

A Richard Terwilliger of Kerhonkson was renominated for the post of supervisor of the Town of Rochester at the Republican Caucus held Thursday night in the Hotel Granite convention hall.

Other nominees, all of whom were unopposed, included:

Town Clerk, Eileen Roslyn Baker of Accord; Collector, LeRoy C. Kelder of Accord; Superintendent of Highways, Richard T. Gray of Kerhonkson; Assessor for four years, Wally Krom; Assessor for two years, Arthur Weinstein of Accord; Justice of Peace, Abraham D. Smith of Kerhonkson and Councilman Ross Juddington of Accord.

In accepting the nomination, Terwilliger pointed out "the vast improvement in many local departments of government under the Republican administration." He further stated, "All problems can be successfully solved by placing these Republican candidates in office again this fall because they have the will, the ability and four years of valuable experience. The record proves they have lowered the town budget and given the people more miles of new and resurfaced highways for less money than ever before." He thanked the people for their confidence in him.

Percy W. Gazley II, who acted as chairman of the caucus called for a vote of thanks for Max Geller for use of the convention hall and for Mrs. Flossie Feltman and ladies of the Town of Rochester Republican Club for the refreshments.

Northway Section Will Open Monday

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The State will open a 2½-mile section at the northern end of the Adirondack Northway on Monday.

The section, costing $3.12 million, is between the Canadian border and the village of Champlain, Clinton County.

A 17-mile section from Champlain south to the Plattsburgh bypass on the Northway is being constructed.

With the opening of the Champlain section, 36 miles of the Northway will be in use. The highway, when completed, will stretch 175 miles between Albany and the Canadian border.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sylvia Kerr took her son, Lance, 12, to register at school Thursday.

He has normal interests for his age—baseball, basketball, Boy Scouts.

Nothing unusual—except the school he's entering is UCLA.

Lance, who graduated from high school last June, plans to complete his undergraduate work and gain at least one graduate degree in physics.

UCLA said he is the youngest student ever to enroll there, and was admitted chiefly on a basis of high college board test scores.

Nixon Still Mum

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Another effort by California Republican leaders to get former Vice President Richard M. Nixon to run for governor ended just like the others—with a question mark.

Twenty-four Republicans talked to the 1960 GOP presidential candidate for 2½ hours Thursday. All urged him to run, a spokesman said.

The spokesman offered his impression that Nixon knows what he's going to do but said he didn't commit himself.

ANCIENT ICEMEN—Two men, appropriately named Frost (but not related), have the task of moving the U.S. Army's valuable samples of glacial ice and snow, some of it 2,000 years old. These are cores drilled from 1,000 feet beneath the surface at Little America in Antarctica. The rare specimens are being taken to Hanover, N.H., where they will be used in weather research. At right is Robert Frost; Ralph Frost is inside the specially cooled truck.

Kenmore Mother Represents N. Y. As Mrs. America

YONKERS, N. Y. (AP) — Mrs. Janet Brown, hazel-eyed mother of three, is New York State's candidate for Mrs. America.

The 34-year-old resident of Kenmore, a Buffalo suburb, was chosen Friday night to represent the state Dec. 9 at Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Automatic Gates Ordered, Used by 11 School Buses

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The Public Service Commission ordered two railroads today to install automatic gates at a highway crossing used daily by 11 school buses.

The Nickel Plate and Pennsylvania Railroads use the tracks over Gowanus Road in the town of Evans, Erie County. The lines had argued that "stop" signs would have afforded adequate protection and cited experience with such signs in Ohio and Michigan.

Commission Examiner F. Leonard Titus said in a report to the PSC, however, that "public safety requires the installation of additional protection" at the crossing.

Titus said testimony during a public hearing showed that 23 trains, traveling 50 to 70 miles an hour, used the crossing daily. Highway traffic at the same point is more than 500 vehicles per day, including "11 loaded school buses," the commission said.

PSC Authorizes New Stock Sale By Orange Phone

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The Highland Telephone Co. of Monroe, Orange County, was authorized by the Public Service Commission today to sell an additional $228,800 worth of shares of common stock.

The company will offer 8,912 shares at $25 each. The money will be used to repay outstanding loans and finance further expansion.

Present stockholders who are residents of New York State will be offered an opportunity to buy additional shares in proportion to their present holdings.

Confining the sale to state residents makes it unnecessary to list the stock with the federal Securities and Exchange Commission.

The company serves 12,400 stations in Orange County.

In approving the new offering, the PSC also authorized the company to distribute another 19,044 shares on a share-for-share basis to present stockholders, thus effecting a 2-for-1 stock split.

Adios Don Scratched

YONKERS, N. Y. (AP) — Adios Don, one of the favorites, has been declared out of the $70,000 Little Brown Jug for 3-year old pacers at Delaware, Ohio, next Thursday.

Bob Camper, the colt's trainer-driver, said Adios Don wrenched his right knee in the Cane pace at Yonkers last week.

Plattekill

PLATTEKILL — Annual rally day exercises will be conducted at the Plattekill Methodist Church Sunday, Sept. 24, and will be held during the worship services at 11 a. m.

Sunday school classes have been resumed, following the summer closing period and will start at 9:45 a. m.

During the vacation of the pastor, the Rev. Carl O. Hartman, services will be conducted by laymen Ralph Garcia and Ralph Grismer.

The combined congregations of the Rossville and Plattekill Methodist Churches will unite in conducting services on rally day at the Plattekill church.

Members of the service and hospitality committee of the Plattekill Grange will hold their annual Grange Fair at the Grange Hall Saturday, Sept. 30. Committees for the various departments have been named.

Mrs. Mary Sisti is teaching the third grade at the Plattekill Elementary School.

A graduate of Cornell University, Mrs. Sisti took graduate work at New Paltz during the summer session.

Miss Nerida Perez is among a class of candidates successfully completing examinations for practical nursing, and receiving license issued by the Bureau of Professional Licensing Services of the New York State Education Department.

The Plattekill Parents' Club met Tuesday evening at the Plattekill Elementary School.

The Willing Workers Society of the Plattekill Methodist Church will serve its annual church supper Saturday evening, Sept. 16, at the Plattekill Grange Hall. Servings will start at 5 p. m.

A four-million-dollar U. S. atomic power plant will begin operation in McMurdo Sound in the Antarctic in 1962.

She Runs the Board By Means of Braille

The "voice with the smile" (the telephone operator) has a broad smile these days at the Braille Institute for the blind in Los Angeles, Calif. She is blind and has been supplied with a special switchboard.

The voice you hear is Jeanne Huffman. She runs the switchboard that has been built for the blind at the reception desk at the Braille Institute. She is "legally blind." This means that she can tell darkness from light but can't make out the shape or details of objects.

The switchboard was developed by the Bell Telephone Laboratories. There are only a few of these boards in the United States, and just three in California.

This is how the board works:

Whenever a call comes in on the usual kind of switchboard two things happen: (1) a buzzer sounds and (2) a light lights. A blind operator can hear the buzzer. But some way had to be found to take the place of the light, which shows on the plug board.

The Bell Telephone Laboratories developed a 15-inch square cabinet which could be mounted beside the usual kind of board, on level with the key shelf. The board has rows of recessed plugs. A Braille symbol is above each plug.

The blind operator hears the buzzer. She feels with the sensitive fingers of her left hand for the plug which has popped up and reads the Braille symbol with the same symbol above the plug hole and plugs in the line and makes the connection.

The whole operation takes only a few seconds, and a blind operator can do it almost as quickly as a sighted operator.

Since the board's installation, Miss Huffman has taught four blind women how to operate the board.

Trees Contain a History of Weather

'Tree Time' Tells Scientists Much About the Weather of Past Ages

Dendrochronology is a 50-cent word. Do you know how to pronounce it? Well, try it this way: DEN-dro-chron-ology. Do you know what it means? Well, it's actually two words in one: "Dendro" has to do with trees, and "chronology" has to do with time.

Thus, the word means "Tree Time," and it's one of the newer sciences of our time.

It came into being when Dr. Andrew E. Douglass, an astronomer at the University of Arizona, set out to prove that there was a relationship between the earth's periods of wet and dry weather and the dark clouds on the sun known as sunspots.

As available weather reports covered too short a period to be of much use, Dr. Douglass turned to the trees of Arizona for information on conditions during their lifetime. He found that these growth patterns—a wide ring grown during a wet season and a narrow one in a dry year—were reliable calendars or almanacs.

Dr. Douglass began his study in 1901. It was slow, hard work. At first, he and his co-workers cut down living trees in order to study their growth rings.

This was all very good as far as it went, but even the oldest living trees of the area did not give enough information. Dr. Douglass then gathered additional facts from old stumps and logs, many being from the ruins of nearby Indian villages.

He found that by matching the inside rings of one tree against the outer ones of an older tree or stump, he had a continuous record of weather conditions covering several centuries.

By the year 1928 this "tree-ring calendar" dated back to 1260 A.D. In addition, he had another group of about 500 log studies which he was unable to date. While these logs seemed to fit together, they did not match the growth patterns of his main group. Dr. Douglass and his assistants, however, felt that there must be a connection between the two, so they continued their search.

Finally on a visit to a crumbling Indian home near Showlow, Ariz., in June, 1929, they dug up a charred, badly decayed log. The log was so fragile they had to dip it in a

CENTIPEDE

I'm glad that I don't have to use

One hundred socks, one hundred shoes,

And put them on and off each day.

I never would have time to play!

I think I'd do as centipedes do,

And just go barefoot.

Wouldn't you?

And I'd love to wriggle, goodness knows,

All of my five hundred toes.

Millepede

Pity the centipede, I said—

All those legs, and just one head

To figure which to use, and when,

And in what order, to walk.

And then

I thought, the millepede has him beat.

He must keep track of a thousand feet!

Shell Bag

Line a large tote bag with heavy aluminum foil to carry your damp and sandy seashell collection. At home, store the shells in empty egg cartons until you decide how you will use them.

preservative and bind it together in order to be able to handle it.

When Dr. Douglass examined its ring growths more closely, he saw they not only matched his main calendar but extended the time. In fact, the log was the missing link needed to tie the undated part of his tree-growth studies into a complete chart for a period of about 1,200 years.

Today Dr. Douglass' tree-ring calendar of weather conditions for the southwestern states of Colorado, Utah and New Mexico dates back to 700 A.D. and for the state of Arizona to the year 11 A.D.

By his work, Dr. Douglass proved that a relationship existed between the spots which appear from time to time on the sun and our cycles of abundant rainfall and drought.

Weathermen today are also finding this tree-ring calendar very helpful when making long-range weather forecasts.

In addition, this new science of dendrochronology is enabling archeologists to date old Indian ruins as accurately as though the Indian builders had carved the dates on the doorjamb of their homes.

They do this by comparing the growth rings of the logs which had been used as roof beams and doorways of the old buildings with the tree-ring calendar. That is, the wide and narrow growth rings of each log is plotted on squared paper. This graph is then moved along the master calendar until the rings coincide; thus, giving the growing period of the tree and showing the date it was cut for building purposes.

The tree-ring growths tell that many of these Indian ruins are not as old as had previously been supposed.

'You Can't Buy Much With a Penny,' But Benny Finds Out It Has Some Value

Benny's mother gave him a shining penny. He put it carefully in his coat pocket. He went down the block and around the corner to see what he could buy with his penny.

He stopped first at the toy shop. "What can I get for a penny?" Benny asked the toy shop man.

The toy shop man thought and thought. He closed his eyes as if he were asleep.

"You can get a wooden whistle," the toy shop man finally said.

Benny looked at the whistle. It was no bigger than his thumb, and it made such a very low sound that you could hardly hear it.

"No, thank you," Benny said. "I want to get something better with my penny."

Benny looked at the fire boats that squirted water. He looked at the chemical sets that could make red and green ink. He looked at guns and balls and games.

"What else can I get for a penny?" Benny asked the toy shop man.

"Can't get much these days with a penny," the toy shop man said.

LADYBIRD

By Ethel Jacobson

Ladybird, ladybird, don't fly away.

Here in my garden I hope you'll stay,

Red as a ruby, with gauzy wings,

Eating your fill of bugs and things

That's why I say:

Ladybird, Ladybird, don't fly away!

Movie Madness--

"You've got to find his football trading-cards before he wakes up!"

Benny went next to the candy store. Outside the store, there was a machine with a glass bowl top. On the front of the machine was a red sticker that said: "Salted Peanuts, 1c."

Benny looked at the machine a long time. He turned the handle back and forth a few times. "Salted peanuts will make me thirsty," Benny finally decided, and went inside the store.

"What can I get for a penny?" Benny asked the candy store man.

"You can get a stick of chewing gum," the candy store man said.

Benny shook his head. "Sometimes the gum gets on my clothes. What else can I get?"

"You can get one chocolate caramel," he said.

"No, thank you," Benny said. "Caramel gets stuck in the corners of my teeth."

"Can't get much these days with a penny," the candy shop man said.

Benny then went next door to the bakery. Benny looked around at the birthday cakes with whipped cream and the hot rye bread with seeds and the rolls. Benny looked at the eclairs that were full of custard. He looked at the cherry pies and the cheese cake.

"What can I get for a penny?" Benny asked.

The bakery store lady thought and thought. "You can get a cookie," she finally said. "Can't get much these days with a penny."

"Thank you," Benny said. "I just decided to save it." And he stuck his hand in his pocket. The penny was gone. Benny looked in his right pocket. Benny looked in his left pocket. He looked in the bakery store, the candy store and the toy shop. The penny wasn't anywhere.

Benny ran home. "What did you get with your penny?" his mother asked.

"I could have gotten a whistle, a stick of gum or a cookie," Benny said. "But I didn't get anything. I lost my penny, and I don't know where."

"I put it in this pocket," and Benny put his hand in his coat pocket to show his mother. Then Benny's eyes opened wide.

"There's a hole in my pocket."

"You can get a wooden whistle," the shop man finally said.

His mother put her hand into his pocket. "So that's where your penny went."

Benny started to cry.

"Don't cry," his mother said. "I'm going to find your penny in a minute." She took off his coat. She turned it upside down. Then she edged her fingers along the bottom of the lining. Sure enough, there at the bottom of Benny's coat was his penny. His mother shook the coat hard, and then she fished the penny out.

"You know what, mother," Benny said. "You keep the penny for me for finding it. I think it's more fun to play and do things without money. It's hard to know what to buy with a penny and it's hard to take care of it."

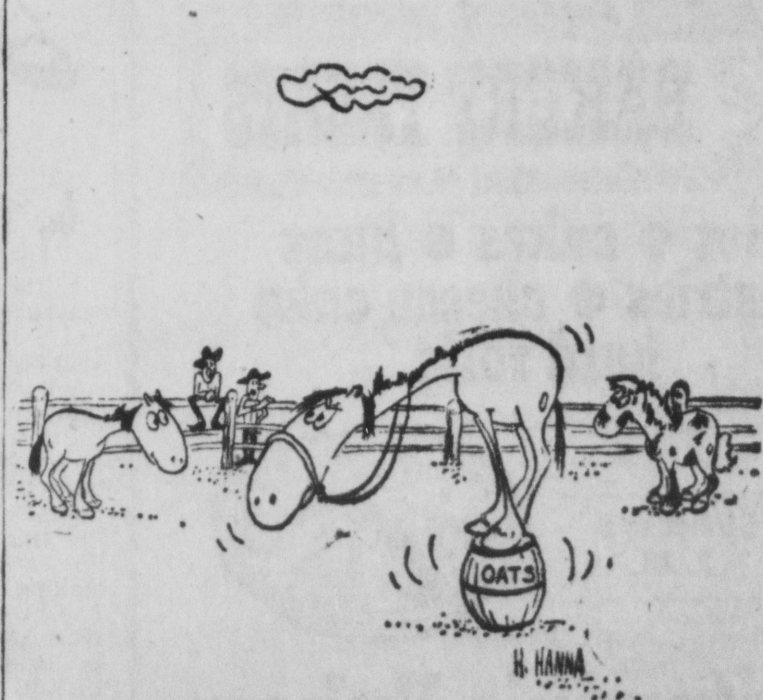

"Besides . . . you can't get much these days with a penny."

Benny's mother smiled. "As you grow older, you'll learn what to do with money and how to use it. But for now, you've learned enough already."

Miss Sondra Bartley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Seward Bartley of Haines Falls, wed Lawrence Hull, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adalbert Hull of Ithaca on Saturday, Sept. 9 at 3 p. m. The double ring ceremony took place at the Oteora Episcopal Church in Tannersville. Officiating was the Rev. J. Filson Reid, pastor of the Haines Falls Methodist Church. Mrs. Connie Carter was organist and Nelson Burhans, soloist, sang "Through the Years" and "Wedding Prayer." Baskets of white, red and gold gladioli decorated the church for the occasion.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of Chantilly lace over tulle, long sleeves, tapered to points over the wrists and a scooped neckline. The floor length skirt swept back into a brush train. The English illusion veil was shirred to a princess crown of cut crystal. The bride carried a prayer book with a white orchid.

Mrs. Patricia Addesso of Kingston was matron of honor for her sister. Attendants were Mrs. Marilyn Wallace of Ithaca, the bridegroom's sister, and Miss Gwen Hart of Skaneateles, N. Y. All wore gowns of iridescent green peau de soie fashioned with molded bodices, three quarter length sleeves and scooped necklines. The bell shaped skirts were street length and they were matching plateau hats with circular tulle veils. The honor attendant carried a spray of copper colored pompons. The attendants carried gold colored pompons.

Miss Christine Addesso, the bride's niece and Christine Wallace, the bridegroom's niece, served as flower girls in white peau de soie street length gowns with green sashes. They carried bouquets of copper and gold toned pompons.

Stewart Wallace of Ithaca was best man for his brother-in-law. Ushers included Harold Hull of Ithaca, the bridegroom's brother, and Seward Bartley Jr., the bride's nephew, was the child ringbearer.

Approximately 150 guests were received at a reception given at the Pleasant View Lounge in Windham.

For her wedding trip to Canada, the bride wore a beige sheath dress with matching coat, brown accessories and an orchid.

Home Extension Service News

Phyllis W. Barlow, county home demonstration agent of the Ulster County Extension Service Association, gives additional tips on new lawns in the following article:

Mulches for New Seedlings—A straw mulch is not necessary for most seedlings but will be especially helpful on steep slopes, on late spring seedlings, or on sandy soil. It will do more harm than good if it is not handled carefully. Shake out the straw thoroughly with a fork and then spread it about 1 inch thick over the new seedling. When you have finished, you should still be able to see about half of the soil surface through the straw. Water by sprinkling the straw. The mulch slows up surface drying and breaks the force of rains and of watering. Watch the grass growth carefully. When it is about 1 inch high, lift off about half of the straw with a fork. About a week later, lift off whatever you can of the remainder without tearing up the new grass. Try to choose a cloudy or rainy period to remove the mulch, for the tender new grass may be injured by sudden exposure to hot, bright sunshine.

Watering a New Seedling—Seed must be wet before it can grow. Dry seed in dry soil is safe from harm. Many birds may come, but the amount of seed they eat is seldom important.

Rain usually falls often enough for good growth, but results are quicker and surer with artificial watering. The first sprinkling must be thorough but gentle, to avoid washing the soil away. Keep the seedbed moist until the grass is well started or the entire planting may be lost. Water more cautiously and more deeply once the grass comes up. Keep the soil moist but not soaking wet.

If there was no ryegrass or redtop in your seed mixture, seedlings may not appear for ten days or more after the soil is thoroughly wet. Do not be alarmed. Your neighbor with a poorer mixture will get a quicker cover; but this is mostly show, because no new lawn will stand traffic until it is well established. Your lawn will be better than his after a few months.

First Mowing—For the first mowing, set the mower to cut at least 1½ inches high. Mow as soon as the grass is tall enough to reach the mower blades. Be sure the mower is sharp and the grass is dry. If the soil is too moist, seedlings will be pulled up. Mow often enough so that no matted clippings are left to smother the new grass. Keep matted clippings and fallen leaves off the new seeding by careful sweeping with a lawn broom. After the second or third mowing, little or no watering should be required unless there is a week or more without rain.

TV Critic Not

Overly Enthusiased By Circus Show

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—NBC unveiled its new "International Showtime" Friday night with a Danish circus, Don Ameche and a dearth of imagination.

It was a good idea, taking TV cameras to the world's showplaces to shoot a weekly hour show. But the opener only demonstrated what Ed Sullivan has proved again and again: Circus acts on TV can be dull.

Somewhat the clowns aren't as funny, the daredevils aren't as daring and the wild beasts aren't as fierce as when you can smell the sweat and sawdust under the tent.

Attractions Standard

The kick of participation is gone.

Honey-voiced Ameche, reading his cue cards mechanically, took viewers to Copenhagen's nontraveling circus Schumann. But there was little effort to capture the foreign atmosphere. The acts might have been presented in a studio in Burbank, Calif.

The attractions were standard: Clowns who threw buckets of goo at each other, dancing horses, a fat clown in a balancing act, tigers and aerialists.

The last act was the best of all—members of the audience, including plants, trying to ride mules.

Ameche punctuated the acts with occasional remarks of the caliber of "The cats are Bengals, and each one tips the scales at about 500 pounds."

Next week: A German ice show. Another Friday night debut was the second season return of "The Flintstones." This prehistoric cartoon is TV's Pitdownton man—a fraud.

Flintstones: No Comedy

It's a cartoon, but it has no action and no comedy to speak of, or at least to laugh at. The background is stone age, but the idiom is modern.

It's an unfunny "Honeymooners." Close your eyes and dim your ears and the voices of Fred Flintstone and Barney Rubble could be Jackie Gleason and Art Carney. But the humor is not up to the "Life of Riley" level.

To demonstrate its affinity to the situation comedy show, "Flintstones" Friday night had a guest star, Hoagy Carmichael. Even drawn in cartoons, he seemed embarrassed at the material he was handed.

I realize that "Flintstones" was last season's success and started a rash of other nighttime network cartoons. The term is advisable.

IMC Group Hears Guest Speaker

YMCA Industrial Management Club held its first meeting of the 1961-62 season Thursday night at Stuyvesant Hotel with Samuel P. Zaccarelli, personnel director of E. F. Drew & Co. Inc., Boonton, N. J., as the speaker. President Alfred Cuedon said today.

Zaccarelli's talk was on leadership in industrial capacity. He first told of the beginning and the organization of the Industrial Management Clubs on a national scale. Its main purpose was the development and training of supervisors in industry.

He said, through the many local Industrial Management Clubs, of which there are over 300, mostly sponsored by the YMCA's many educational classes have been instituted. Many instructors have been assigned through the state educational department, and in this territory through Cornell University. Many men throughout the country have been promoted in industry because of their affiliation with and the knowledge gained from the educational classes.

President Alfred Cuedon held a short business meeting. A new amendment was voted that the local club be called the Industrial Management Club of Ulster County. A committee was formed to make arrangements for plant tours and preliminary plans were set for the year's educational program.

Somehow the clowns aren't as funny, the daredevils aren't as daring and the wild beasts aren't as fierce as when you can smell the sweat and sawdust under the tent.

Attractions Standard

The kick of participation is gone. Honeyvoiced Ameche, reading his cue cards mechanically, took viewers to Copenhagen's nontraveling circus Schumann. But there was little effort to capture the foreign atmosphere. The acts might have been presented in a studio in Burbank, Calif.

The attractions were standard: Clowns who threw buckets of goo at each other, dancing horses, a fat clown in a balancing act, tigers and acrobats.

The last act was the best of all—members of the audience, including plants, trying to ride mules.

Ameche punctuated the acts with occasional remarks of the caliber of "The cats are Bengals, and each one tips the scales at about 500 pounds."

Next week: A German ice show. Another Friday night debut was the second season return of "The Flintstones." This prehistoric cartoon is TV's Pitkin man—a fraud.

Flintstones: No Comedy

It's a cartoon, but it has no action and no comedy to speak of, or at least to laugh at. The background is stone age, but the idiom is modern.

It's an unfunny "Honeymooners." Close your eyes and dim your ears and the voices of Fred Flintstone and Barney Rubble could be Jackie Gleason and Art Carney. But the humor is not up to the "Life of Riley" level.

To demonstrate its affinity to the situation comedy show, "Flintstones" Friday night had a guest star, Hoagy Carmichael. Even drawn in cartoons, he seemed embarrassed at the material he was handed.

I realize that "Flintstones" was last season's success and started a rash of other nighttime network cartoons. The term is advisable.

IMC Group Hears Guest Speaker

YMCA Industrial Management Club held its first meeting of the 1961-62 season Thursday night at Stuyvesant Hotel with Samuel P. Zaccarelli, personnel director of E. F. Drew & Co. Inc., Boonton, N. J., as the speaker. President Alfred Cuedon said today.

Zaccarelli's talk was on leadership in industrial capacity. He first told of the beginning and the organization of the Industrial Management Clubs on a national scale. Its main purpose was the development and training of supervisors in industry, he said, through the many local Industrial Management Clubs, of which there are over 300, mostly sponsored by the YMCA's many educational classes have been instituted. Many instructors have been assigned through the state educational department, and in this territory through Cornell University.

Many men throughout the country have been promoted in industry because of their affiliation with and the knowledge gained from the educational classes.

President Alfred Cuedon held a short business meeting. A new amendment was voted that the local club be called the Industrial Management Club of Ulster County. A committee was formed to make arrangements for plant tours and preliminary plans were set for the year's educational program.

Woman Chops Wood On Birthday—105

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP)—Mrs. Eva Montsinger, whose grandfather lived to be 114, celebrated her 105 birthday in the Cape Town suburb of Ottery Friday. She chopped her daily ration of firewood because "I don't like sitting down, doing nothing."

Glass is believed to be the oldest manufactured substance in the world.

Braves, Ho-Bos to Collide Tonight

2nd Playoff Tilt Slated at Stadium; Maines to Pitch

It figures to be anything but cool at Dietz Stadium tonight when the Kingston Braves try to square the New York-New Jersey League playoff series with the Poughkeepsie Ho-Bos. Game time is 8 p. m. and those who are in attendance are promised some fast action and a chance to win some valuable prizes.

The league fined Poughkeepsie $150 for forfeiting a game last week against Millbrook. The fine has been taken care of and now both clubs can get down to the business of playing ball. Last Saturday in Poughkeepsie, the home side pushed a run across the plate in the ninth inning to pin an 8-7 loss on the Braves. Another one like that and the series will be over.

Bob Maines, an all-star hurler in the circuit for several seasons, will probably start this one for the Braves. He was tagged with the loss last week but it took an error on an easy pop to turn the game around. If Maines runs into trouble then either big Mike Spada, Frank Horan or John Risley will be ready.

Acker to Hurl
Tom Acker, who pitched the Poughkeepsie club to the regular season championship in the Eastern division of the circuit, should toe the slab tonight. He's had arm trouble and didn't pitch until he was called on to relieve last week. If Acker can't make it then Jim Hubble, who has had a charmed life against Kingston in recent starts, will pitch.

If the Braves win tonight, it will set up a third game for next Wednesday in Poughkeepsie. A victory by the Ho-Bos will put the lid on the baseball season.

The Mayor's Committee, headed by Addison Jones, has lined up several attractive merchandise prizes to be awarded during the game.

Bosco's Captures Softball Crown

Bosco's Clippers, sponsored by Bosco's Barbbershop, won the Saugerties Softball League title with a 13-2 record. Led by the hitting and fielding of Boo Schaefer, Bud Smith, Joe Martin, Gunner Malone and Bill Straub and the steady hurling of Don Martin, the Clippers breezed to the title.

Schaefer led the league in hitting with a .526 mark and he also had 22 hits to lead in that department. Joe Martin slugged four home runs, Straub, hit .521 and Mickey Laonnie a gaudy .517.

Amster Is Winner Of Individual Bridge Tourney

Lewis Amster, Pleasant Valley, scored 102 to win the individual championship as the Hudson Valley bridge tourney started Friday at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Trailing the winner was I. H. Wheatcroft of Kingston with 101½, and third went to Dr. Paul Perlman, Woodstock, with a score of 97½.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Pack, Woodland, scored 169½ to win the mixed pair championship. Second went to Mr. and Mrs. George Schoenbrum, Poughkeepsie, with a score of 166½. Third was won by Mrs. Kay Bailey, Port Chester, and Edgar Blitz, Port Chester, with a score of 168.

The tournament continues over the weekend with Two Session Open Pairs event taking the spotlight.

Koufax Sets Whiff Mark in NL

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
Swift southpaw Sandy Koufax has broken a 50-year-old strikeout record, continued Warren Spahn's 12-year-old jinx and maintained the Los Angeles Dodgers' chances of catching the front-running Cincinnati Reds in the National League pennant battle.

Koufax set the Milwaukee Braves down on five hits Friday night, striking out 10 en route to an 11-2 victory that pushed the second-place Dodgers within 4½ games of the Reds, who were idle for the second night in succession.

The 10 strikeouts gave Koufax 243 for the year—the most ever achieved by a left-hander in modern NL history. Rube Marquard, who fanned 237 for the New York Giants in 1911, held the previous record.

Spahn, meanwhile, met his usual fate against the Dodgers on the road, losing for the 12th consecutive time since he last beat the then Brooklynites in their home park in 1948. The 40-year-old Milwaukee ace was seeking victory No. 20 for the sixth year in a row and the 12th time in his career.

Drop to Fourth
Instead, he lasted less than two innings, his string of 10 straight complete game victories came to an end and the Braves dropped into fourth place behind San Francisco. The Giants whipped the Chicago Cubs 5-1 in the only other NL game scheduled.

Koufax, who had lost six straight at the Coliseum and had not won at home since June 11, gave up a leadoff homer to John DeMerit in the first, allowed another to cross in the inning on a doubleplay, then closed the door for his 16th victory against 11 defeats.

Spahn (19-13) got past the first 1-2-3, but Frank Howard opened the second inning with a liner over the left field screen for homer No. 15. Warren then lost his control, walking the next three men on 13 pitches before Norm Sherry has lashed his exit with a two-run single.

The Dodgers continued their assault on replacements Ron Piche and Tony Cloninger in the fourth by scoring five runs—three on a homer by Daryl Spencer, who shared hitting honors with Wally Moon. Moon had a double and three singles in five at-bats and drove in three runs.

Maris Even With Babe Ruth But Yankee Ace Keeps Trying

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
DETROIT (AP) — The ghost of Babe Ruth has finally caught up with Roger Maris.

The Sultan of Swat, as the Babe was called in 1927 when he smashed his record 60 home runs, and Maris were exactly even today. Each had 56 home runs after their team's 150 games.

It marked the first time since Maris and Mickey Mantle began their assault in earnest on Ruth's record that Maris was not in front.

Missed Opportunity
Maris missed a golden opportunity to move ahead of Ruth's pace Friday night when he was held to a mere single in nine times at bat as the New York Yankees divided a doubleheader with Detroit.

The Yankees won the opener 11-1 but lost the second game 4-2. Mantle, who just about conceded after going homerless in three games in Chicago, fell even further behind when he, too, failed to hit a home run in the twin bill.

Old Dodger Jinx Stops Spahn From Getting His 20th Win
By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Outside and down the long tunnel leading to the ball field the crowd was wild as the Dodgers piled up a big lead over the Milwaukee Braves Friday night.

But back in the Milwaukee dressing room it was like a tomb — quiet, bare and cool. There were only two persons in the place. One, half-bare and understandably cool, was Warren Spahn.

And, while he probably won't admit it, a Dodger spell still hovers over this master of the mound.

Plenty of Time
Spahn still has time this season to hit No. 20 and break his own record as a consistent 20-game winner. He has done it 11 times.

A rather hesitant visitor to the dressing room explained he had come to the game especially hoping to see him record this particular milestone.

"That's why I came here, too," retorted Spahn.

Spahn went into the game with 10 straight victories behind him. He retired the Dodgers in order in the first inning.

Then, in succession, Spahn walked Gil Hodges, Daryl Spencer and Charlie Neal.

Up came catcher Norm Sherry. His blood single scored two runners. That was all for Spahn.

The dressing room visitor suggested that Spahn's pitch to Howard looked like a good one. Spahn abruptly disagreed. "No, it was a bad pitch, a high change-up," he said.

"I was just wild. I can't understand why I was so wild. That's what bothers me."

So, the wonderful Warren Spahn will have to wait another day for No. 20.

Ends Next Saturday Monticello Commences Final Week of Racing

MONTICELLO — Monticello Raceway embarks on its last week of harness racing Monday, September 18th, and the last six nights are expected to bring the already successful meet to a smashing climax.

Pari-mutuel and attendance records are certain to fall, thus assuring the Sullivan County Harness Racing Association, Inc., of its greatest meeting in four years of operation.

In 88 nights in 1960, the total handle squared to $24,777,401, which was almost double the first season figure of $12,409,332.

When this year's meet winds up, 89 cards will have been contested—most in the track's history. Included were two successful daylight performances.

Many Top Efforts

The great Butler smashed the track record by touring the

Total is Now 223 To Break Mark Set By Giants, Reds

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer
Homerless in seven games, Roger Maris faces the imposing task of hitting four home runs in five games in order to tie Babe Ruth's 1927 home run record of 60.

Maris, who spurred 24 games ahead of Ruth's pace on July 25, was caught Friday night as he came up with only one single in nine at-bats while the American League leading New York Yankees were splitting a two-nighter with second-place Detroit.

Maris, with 56 home runs, now is even with Ruth, and must hit four homers in the next five decisions—two against Detroit and three at Baltimore—to match Ruth under the 154-decision allotment specified by Commissioner Ford Frick.

Teammate Mickey Mantle fell further behind Ruth with a single, double, three walks and a sacrifice fly in nine trips against the Tigers. Mantle, with 53 homers, needs seven home runs in the five games to get a draw with the Babe.

The Yankees, however, set a major league team home run record as Yogi Berra and Bill Skowron connected in the 11-1 opening game victory and boosted the New Yorkers' total to 222 for the season, one more than the New York Giants in 1947 and Cincinnati Reds in 1956.

Number is Four
In the nighttime, the Tigers used a two-run homer by Norm Cash and a solo shot by Steve Boros for a three-run third that proved enough to subdue the Yankees 4-2. That left the Yanks magic pennant-clinching number at four.

Any combination of four New York victories and/or Detroit defeats will give the Yankees their 11th pennant in the last 13 years and the first under rookie manager Ralph Houk.

Boston edged Baltimore 3-2 in 10 innings. Minnesota nipped Cleveland 3-2. Los Angeles beat Chicago 9-5 and Washington defeated Kansas City 3-1.

The Yanks won the first game easily behind Whitey Ford, who scattered eight hits in a routine going performance for his 24th victory against three defeats. Berra's 20th homer, off loser Don Mossi (14-7) with one on in the fourth, put the Yankees ahead to stay.

Ron Kline (7-8) spaced seven Yankee hits in the nightcap, giving up a homer to Clete Boyer — the New Yorkers 223rd—in the fifth and an unearned tally in the eighth. Cash and Boros smacked their homers in the third.

Eddie Machen Solid Favorite To Defeat DeJohn in Syracuse

By CONRAD OLIVEN
SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The return encounter tonight between heavyweights Eddie Machen of Portland, Ore., and hometown hero Mike DeJohn shows signs of being a lively fight.

Machen, the No. 4 heavyweight contender, is rated an 8-5 favorite in the televised 10-rounder at War Memorial Auditorium (ABC, 9 p.m. EST).

The West Coast fighter, normally a cautious boxer and counterpuncher, is expected to take the offensive, as he did in defeating DeJohn in their previous 10-round bout April 10 in San Francisco.

DeJohn "can murder you from long range" and is, a harder puncher than Ingemar Johansson, the fit, 6-foot, 191-pound Machen claimed. Johansson knocked out Machen in the first round of their bout in Sweden in 1958.

If either Machen or DeJohn "wins spectacularly, I'll make a big offer to Patterson," promoter Norman Rothschild said. Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson, under National Boxing Association orders to defend his title against the No. 1 challenger by March 13, "absolutely should fight one of these two fellows," Rothschild said.

"Both boys are well aware of the opportunity" in tonight's fight, the promoter said. Machen has a 37-4-1 record, with 21 knockouts in 6 years as a pro. DeJohn, fighting professionally for 10 years, has scored 28 knockouts in 50 fights. His record is 41 victories, 8 losses and 1 draw. Each fighter is 29 years old.

Scoring will be by rounds. Air Record was second and Silver Song third.

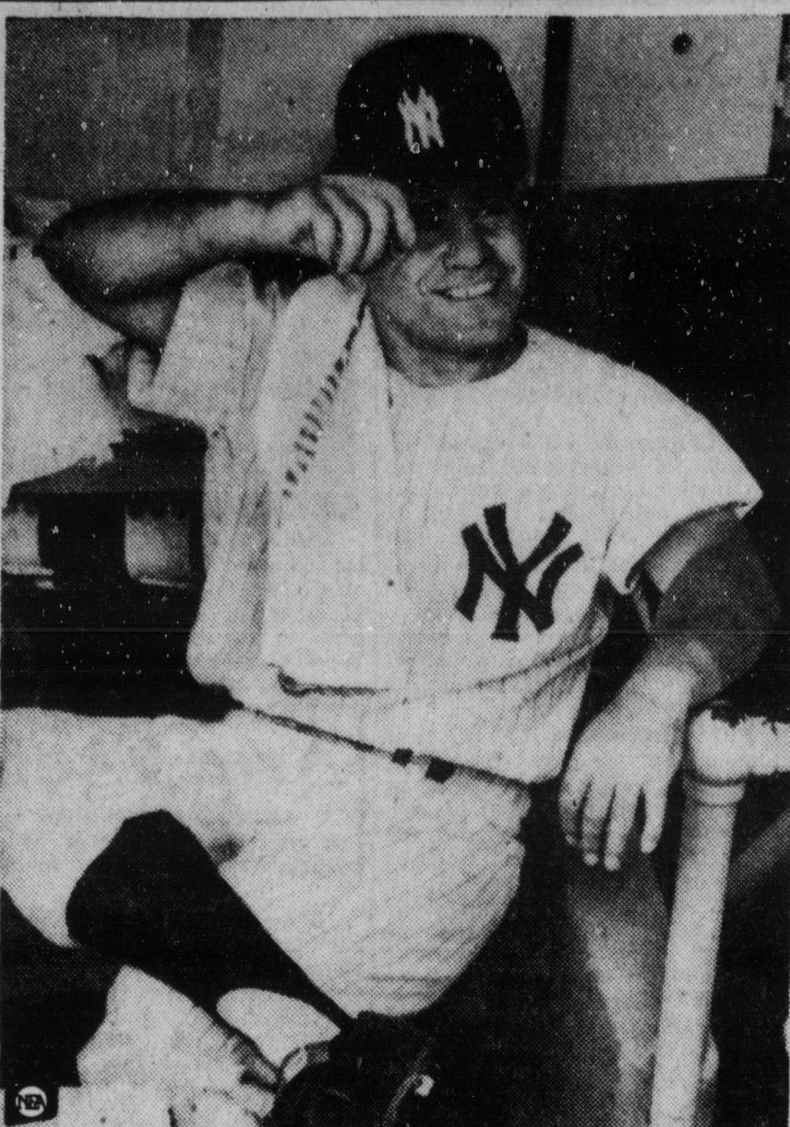

Feature winners at other New York State harness tracks were: Saratoga Raceway — Yankee Tardios ($3.40), 2:06, Don Huff driving, in a $2,500 race. It was Yankee Tardios' fifth straight win.

Monticello Raceway — Sharp-shooter ($21.40), 2:04 4-5, Harry Pownall Sr. driving, in an $8,000 race.

2nd Playoff Tilt Slated at Stadium; Maines to Pitch

It figures to be anything but cool at Dietz Stadium tonight when the Kingston Braves try to square the New York-New Jersey League playoff series with the Poughkeepsie Ho-Bos. Game time is 8 p. m. and those who are in attendance are promised some fast action and a chance to win some valuable prizes.

The league fined Poughkeepsie $150 for forfeiting a game last week against Millbrook. The fine has been taken care of and now both clubs can get down to the business of playing ball. Last Saturday in Poughkeepsie, the home side pushed a run across the plate in the ninth inning to pin an 8-7 loss on the Braves. Another one like that and the series will be over.

Bob Maines, an all-star hurler in the circuit for several seasons, will probably start this one for the Braves. He was tagged with the loss last week but it took an error on an easy popup to turn the game around. If Maines runs into trouble then either big Mike Spada, Frank Horan or John Risley will be ready.

Acker to Hurl
Tom Acker, who pitched the Poughkeepsie club to the regular season championship in the Eastern division of the circuit, should toe the slab tonight. He's had arm trouble and didn't pitch until he was called on to relieve last week. If Acker can't make it then Jim Hubble, who has had a charmed life against Kingston in recent starts, will pitch.

If the Braves win tonight, it will set up a third game for next Wednesday in Poughkeepsie. A victory by the Ho-Bos will put the lid on the baseball season. The Mayor's Committee, headed by Addison Jones, has lined up several attractive merchandise prizes to be awarded during the game.

Bosco's Captures Softball Crown

Bosco's Clippers, sponsored by Bosco's Barbours, won the Saugerties Softball league title with a 13-2 record. Led by the hitting and fielding of Boo Schaefer, Bud Smith, Joe Martin, Gunner Malone and Bill Straub and the steady hurling of Don Martin, the Clippers breezed to the title.

Schaefer led the league in hitting with a .526 mark and he also had 22 hits to lead in that department. Joe Martin slugged four home runs. Straub, hit .521 and Mickie Iannone a gaudy .517.

Amster Is Winner Of Individual Bridge Tourney

Lewis Amster, Pleasant Valley, scored 102 to win the individual championship as the Hudson Valley bridge tourney started Friday at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Trailing the winner was I. H. Wheatcroft of Kingston with 101½, and third went to Dr. Paul Perlman, Woodstock, with a score of 97½.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Pack, Woodland, scored 169½ to win the mixed pair championship. Second went to Mr. and Mrs. George Schoenbrum, Poughkeepsie, with a score of 166½. Third was won by Mrs. Kay Bailey, Port Chester, and Edgar Blitz, Port Chester, with a score of 163.

The tournament continues over the weekend with Two Session Open Pairs event taking the spotlight.

Koufax Sets Whiff Mark in NL

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
Swift southpaw Sandy Koufax has broken a 50-year-old streakout record, continued Warren Spahn's 12-year-old jinx and maintained the Los Angeles Dodgers' chances of catching the front-running Cincinnati Reds in the National League pennant battle.

Koufax set the Milwaukee Braves down on five hits Friday night, striking out 10 en route to an 11-2 victory that pushed the second-place Dodgers within 4½ games of the Reds, who were idle for the second night in succession. The 10 strikeouts gave Koufax 243 for the year—the most ever achieved by a left-hander in modern NL history. Rube Marquard, who fanned 227 for the New York Giants in 1911, held the previous record.

Spahn, meanwhile, met his usual fate against the Dodgers on the road, losing for the 12th consecutive time since he last beat the then Brooklynites in their home park in 1948. The 40-year-old Milwaukee ace was seeking victory No. 20 for the sixth year in a row and the 12th time in his career.

Drop to Fourth
Instead, he lasted less than two innings, his string of 10 straight complete game victories came to an end and the Braves dropped into fourth place behind San Francisco. The Giants whipped the Chicago Cubs 5-1 in the only other NL game scheduled.

Koufax, who had lost six straight at the Coliseum and had not won at home since June 11, gave up a leadoff homer to John DeMerit in the first, allowed another run to cross in the inning on a doubleplay, then closed the door for his 16th victory against 11 defeats.

Spahn (19-13) got past the first 1-2-3, but Frank Howard opened the second inning with a liner over the left field screen for homer No. 15. Warren then lost his control, walking the next three men on 13 pitches before Norm Sherry hastened his exit with a two-run single. The Dodgers wound up with six runs in the inning.

The Dodgers continued their assault on replacements Ron Piche and Tony Cloninger in the fourth by scoring five runs—three on a homer by Daryl Spencer, who shared hitting honors with Wally Moon. Moon had a double and three singles in five at-bats and drove in three runs.

Yesterday's Stars
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Pitching — Sandy Koufax, Dodgers, struck out 10 in 11-2 victory over Braves and, ran season streakout total to 243 — the most ever achieved by a left-hander in the National League.

Hitting — Carl Yastrzemski, Red Sox, broke up pitchers' duel with home run in 10th that beat Orioles 3-2.

Maris missed a golden opportunity to move ahead of Ruth's pace Friday night when he was held to a mere single in nine times at bat as the New York Yankees divided a doubleheader with Detroit.

The Yankees won the opener 11-1 but lost the second game 4-2. Maris, who just about conceded after going homeless in three games in Chicago, fell even further behind when he, too, failed to hit a home run in the twin bill.

Old Dodger Jinx Stops Spahn From Getting His 20th Win

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Outside and down the long tunnel leading to the ball field the crowd was wild as the Dodgers piled up a big lead over the Milwaukee Braves Friday night.

But back in the Milwaukee dressing room it was like a tomb — quiet, bare and cool. There were only two persons in the place. One, half-bare and understandably cool, was Warren Spahn.

For just a short time before this incomparable pitcher, at 40 still one of the greatest left-handers of all time, had failed in his bid for his 20th win of the year.

And, while he probably won't admit it, a Dodger spell still hovers over this master of the mound.

Pleanty of Time
Spahn still has time this season to hit No. 20 and break his own record as a consistent 20-game winner. He has done it 11 times. A rather hesitant visitor to the dressing room explained he had come to the game especially hoping to see him record this particular milestone.

"That's why I came here, too," retorted Spahn.

Spahn went into the game with 10 straight victories behind him. He retired the Dodgers in order in the first inning.

Then came the second inning. The first man up, Frank Howard, hit a home run.

Then, in succession, Spahn walked Gil Hodges, Daryl Spencer and Charlie Neal.

Up came catcher Norm Sherry. His blop single scored two runners. That was all for Spahn.

The dressing room visitor suggested that Spahn's pitch to Howard looked like a good one. Spahn abruptly disagreed. "No, it was a bad pitch, a high change-up," he said.

"I was just wild. I can't understand why I just so wild. That's what bothers me." So, the wonderful Warren Spahn will have to wait another day for No. 20.

Ends Next Saturday
Monticello Commences Final Week of Racing

MONTICELLO — Monticello Raceway embarks on its last week of harness racing Monday, September 18th, and the last six nights are expected to bring the already successful meet to a smashing climax.

Pari-mutuel and attendance records are certain to fall, thus assuring the Sullivan County Harness Racing Association, Inc., of its greatest meeting in four years of operation.

When Saturday's final program is contested, per capita, daily average, and daily average marks are expected to be erased in addition to total crowd and wagering standards.

In 88 nights in 1960, the total handle soared to $24,777,401, which was almost double the first season figure of $12,409,332.

When this year's meet winds up, 89 cards will have been contested—most in the track's history. Included were two successful daylight performances.

Many Top Efforts
On the racing end, performances by champion pacer, Adios Butler, and trotting counterpart, Su Mac will rank as the top individual efforts.

The great Butler smashed the track record by touring the course in 1:59.2 in a time trial on September 2nd.

Almost as brilliant was the 1:59.4 victory turned in by Ted Zornow's Tar Boy in competition on July 22nd.

Su Mac trotted to a 2:01.4 victory on August 8th, to wipe out the old standard of 2:03 set by Air Record in last year's Harness Tracks of America event.

Harold (Sonny) Dancer Jr., will be crowned the driving champion. Dancer had already surpassed the old total of wins record of 39 established by Carmine Abatiello last year.

The 26-year-old New Jersey teamster will be shooting to reach the 50-win mark by the time the last race goes off on Saturday.

Rifle Instruction Classes Scheduled
Members of the Ruby Rod and Gun club will hold "Hunter Safety Rifle Instruction Courses" at the Mt. Marion school on Saturday, Sept. 30 and Oct. 7 and 14. Bernard Symanski of Kingston, a New York State qualified instructor, will conduct the courses.

Total is Now 223 To Break Mark Set By Giants, Reds

By MIKE RATHET

Homeless in seven games, Roger Maris faces the imposing task of hitting four home runs in five games in order to tie Babe Ruth's 1927 home run record of 60.

Maris, who spurted 24 games ahead of Ruth's pace on July 25, was caught Friday night as he came up with only one single in nine at-bats while the American League leading New York Yankees were splitting a two-nighter with second-place Detroit.

Maris, with 56 home runs, now is even with Ruth, and must hit four homers in the next five decisions—two against Detroit and three at Baltimore—to match Ruth under the 154-decision allotment specified by Commissioner Ford Frick.

Teammate Mickey Mantle fell further behind Ruth with a single, double, three walks and a sacrifice fly in nine trips against the Tigers. Mantle, with 53 homers, needs seven home runs in the five games to get a draw with the Babe.

The Yankees, however, set a major league team home run record as Yogi Berra and Bill Skowron connected in the 11-1 opening game victory and boosted the New Yorkers' total to 222 for the season, one more than the New York Giants in 1947 and Cincinnati Reds in 1956.

Number is Four

In the nightcap, the Tigers used a two-run homer by Norm Cash and a solo shot by Steve Boros for a three-run third that proved enough to subdue the Yankees 4-2. That left the Yanks' magic pennant-clinching number at four.

Any combination of four New York victories and/or Detroit defeats will give the Yankees their 11th pennant in the last 13 years and the first under rookie manager Ralph Houk.

Boston edged Baltimore 3-2 in 10 innings, Minnesota nipped Cleveland 3-2, Los Angeles beat Chicago 9-5 and Washington defeated Kansas City 3-1.

The Yanks won the first game easily behind Whitey Ford, who scattered eight hits in a routine going performance for his 24th victory against three defeats. Berra's 20th homer, off loser Don Mossi (14-7) with one on in the fourth, put the Yankees ahead to stay.

Ron Kline (7-8) spaced seven Yankee hits in the nightcap, giving up a homer to Clete Boyer — the New Yorkers 223rd — in the fifth and an unearned tally in the eighth. Cash and Boros smacked their homers in the third.

Eddie Machen Solid Favorite To Defeat DeJohn in Syracuse

By CONRAD OLIVEN

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The return encounter tonight between heavyweights Eddie Machen of Portland, Ore., and hometown hero Mike DeJohn shows signs of being a lively fight.

Machen, the No. 4 heavyweight contender, is rated an 8-5 favorite in the televised 10-rounder at War Memorial Auditorium (ABC, 9 p. m. EST).

The West Coast fighter, normally a cautious boxer and counterpuncher, is expected to take the offensive, as he did in a 10-round bout April 10 in San Francisco.

The 6-foot-3 DeJohn, who was slow and overweight at 216½ lbs that encounter, has worked off more than 10 pounds and will be more aggressive tonight, his backers contend.

DeJohn's volatile right can be dangerous. Machen learned in the fourth round at San Francisco. DeJohn "can murder you from long range" and is a harder puncher than Ingemar Johansson, the fit, 6-foot, 191-lb. pound Machen claimed. Johansson knocked out Machen in the first round of their bout in Sweden in 1958.

If either Machen or DeJohn "wins spectacularly, I'll make a big offer to Patterson," promoter Norman Rothschild said. Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson, under National Boxing Association orders to defend his title against the No. 1 challenger by March 13, "absolutely should fight one of these two fellows," Rothschild said.

"Both boys are well aware of the opportunity" in tonight's fight, the promoter said. Machen has a 37-4 record, with 21 knockouts in 5 years as a pro. DeJohn, fighting professionally for 10 years, has scored 28 knockouts in 50 fights. His record is 41 victories, 8 losses and 1 draw. Each fighter is 29 years old.

Scoring will be by rounds. Fan Suffers Injury When Hit by a Ball

National Football League Set To Open 42nd Season Sunday

By ROBERT MOORE
Associated Press Sports Writer
Nearly a third of a million people will turn out in person Sunday to watch the National Football League's 14 teams launch the circuit's 42nd season in play-for-action from New York to San Francisco.

The biggest crowds of 60,000 will view the fireworks in Philadelphia's Franklin Field where the champion Philadelphia Eagles clash with the Cleveland Browns and in New York's Yankee Stadium, where the New York Giants battle the St. Louis Cardinals.

Elsewhere, 53,000 will see the Los Angeles Rams at Baltimore; 40,000 the Washington Redskins at San Francisco; 40,000 the Detroit Lions against the Green Bay Packers in Milwaukee; 40,000 the Chicago Bears at Minnesota's Metropolitan Stadium in Minneapolis, and 25,000 the Pittsburgh Steelers at Dallas.

The Big Game
Philadelphia's collision with the Browns very likely will prove the day's eyebrow lifter. The Eagles, unbeaten in four NFL exhibition games, have a new quarterback in Sonny Jurgensen, a new coach in Nick Skorich and a bitter remembrance of the 41-24 licking Browns dealt them on opening day a year ago.

The Browns have finished second in the Eastern Conference the past three years and are tired of their bridesmaid's role. Quarterback Milt Plum seems to have finally arrived with more poise, confidence and skill.

Green Bay, Western Conference defending champion, piled up a 5-0 record in exhibitions. The Packers, with Bart Starr at quarterback, have just about the same team which bowed 17-13 to the Eagles in the 1960 title game.

Detroit and Baltimore expect to have considerable to say about the Western Conference title. The Lions, beaten only by the Eagles (23-14) in the warmups, have speed, fine receivers and a rugged defense. The Colts have added Jimmy Orr, who should be a favorite target for passing demom Johnny Unitas.

The Giants-Cardinals get-together will be a battle of cripples. Both teams have ailing quarterbacks, New York's Charlie Conerly and the Cards' Sam Etchevery.

Highland Gridders Seeking To Recapture DCSL Title

After winning the DCSL football championship for three straight seasons, Highland High School had to be content for an also-ran berth last year and this time around, Coach Bob Relyea is hoping to come forth with another winner. He has lost seven regular and seven other lettermen from the 1960 squad but the outlook is far from pessimistic.

Returning are ends Dick Johnson and Walt Patmore, tackle Andy Mulca, quarterback Bob Corso, fullback Jack Margulio and halfbacks John Dallvechia and Tony Baracco. They all saw some action last season and this year's club will be built around them.

Other varsity candidates include ends Dick McCarthy, Randy Ferguson, Tom Sinagra and Bill Cappilino; tackles Alan Schatzle, Bob Gruner and Frank Giordano; center Dick Brucher; guards Frank Currie, Sal Potenza, Larry DiPrima, Richard Rozzi, Ray DiLorenzo, John Gaffney and John Cappilino; quarterback Fred Ellis; fullback Phil Giangrosso and halfbacks Richard Nardone, Steve Sorce and Ed Wichman.

Other candidates are Vincent Simone, Frank Dolcemascolo, Errol Vulpiani, Wally Bozadj, Taras Bozadj, Joseph Canino, Carmine Carferone, Paul Castellano, Gary Cicale, Gerry Contalio, John Currie, Francis DeMatteo, John Difullo, Bob Denton, John Fraino, Mike Goldman, Harry Guido, James Baker, Richard Vaccaro, Peter Housick, William Jayne, Ronald LaSusa, Joseph Mandia, Anthony Margulio, Wayne Mead, Dennis McGraw, Ed Patmore, Cliff Schoonmaker, Richard Schoonmaker, Elmer Speedling, James Southworth, Louis Timperio, Bob Witkowski and Glenn York.

termen lost through graduation are Roger Skipp, Dan Mancinelli, Gabe Cicale, Bob Drake, Richard Van Benschoten, Charles Andola and Martin Miller.

Highland will open its season on Saturday, Sept. 23 at Roosevelt Central. The club has three home games listed—two of them at Riverview field in Poughkeepsie and another on Saturday night, Oct. 7, against Saugerties at Dietz Stadium. There is no football field at the school.

New UCAL Club

Liberty Grid Eleven Lacks Much Experience

Nine new starters will be taking the field next Saturday when the Liberty Indians play their first game at Pine Bush. Coach Charles Witherwax said there is fair team speed and a lack of experience as the Indians get set for their first appearance in the UCAL.

Four ends, a pair of tackles, two guards, a center, two halfbacks and a fullback were graduated last season and Witherwax has some big gaps to fill if the Sullivan County club figures to be a contender for the circuit crown.

Since there are only 10 seniors on the 29-man varsity squad, prospects for the future are bright. However, this season promises to be another story.

Senior Albert Hadden is the lone returning guard. Another senior, William Jones, as well as sophomore Tom Finn and juniors Wayne Mullally and Mike Wales are the other candidates. Harry Rampe and Reg Sorraio will be at center. Rampe was a letter winner last season.

Marvin Miller, a returning veteran, as well as John Elliott and Elliot Sackler will be at quarterback. Halfbacks are seniors William Blume, Charles Bruns and Louis Sorraio as well as juniors Warren Earl, David Garren and Henry Miller.

Veteran Joe Decker returns at fullback and he'll have help from Don Benton, a sophomore, and Junior Rich Yau.

PROCLAMATION

GREETING:

Whereas, a Trial Term of Supreme Court for the County of Ulster is to be held in and for the County of Ulster, at the Court House, in the City of Kingston, on Monday the 2nd day of October, 1961.

We command you in pursuance of the provisions of Section 222-a of the Code of Criminal Procedure, in that case made and provided:

FIRST: That you summon the several persons who have been drawn in said County of Ulster, pursuant to law, to serve as Grand Jurors and Trial Jurors at the said Court to appear at the said Court on the first day of said sitting.

SECOND: That you bring before the said Court all prisoners then being in the jail of said County, together with all process and proceedings in any way concerning them in your hands at such sitting.

THIRD: That you make Proclamation, in the manner prescribed by Section 222-c of the Code of Criminal Procedure, notifying all persons bound to appear at the said Court for recognition or otherwise, to appear thereat, and requiring all justices of the Peace, Coroners, and other officers who have taken any recognition for the appearance of any person at such Court, or who shall have taken any inquiry, or the examination of any prisoner or witness along with the said recognitions, inquiries and examinations to the said Court at the opening thereof, on the first day of said sitting.

WITNESS, Hon. WILLIAM DECK, LEMANN, one of the Justices of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, at the Court House in the City of Kingston, this 14th day of September, in the year one thousand nine hundred and sixty-one.

DAVID W. CURWIN, District Attorney of the County of Ulster.

In pursuance of the above precept, I hereby make Proclamation that a Trial Term of the Supreme Court of the County of Ulster shall be held at the Court House and Jail delivery will be held at the Court House in Kingston, N. Y., on the 2nd day of October, 1961, at 11:00 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, and all persons who will prosecute against any person in the jail of said County are required to be then and there present, to proceed with the said persons, who are required to appear at the said Court for recognition, or otherwise are required to appear thereat, and all justices of the Peace, Coroners, and other officers who may have taken any recognition for the appearance of any person at such Court, or who shall have taken any inquiry, or the examination of any prisoner or witness are required to return such recognitions, inquiries and examinations on to the said Court at the opening thereof, at the first day of the sitting of the Court to be then and there present with their rolls and records, indictments and remembrances to do said things which to their office pertain.

CLAUDE BELL, Sheriff of Ulster County.

NOTICE OF SALE

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale entered in the above entitled case on the 28th day of July, 1961, and entered in the Ulster County Clerk's Office on the 28th day of July, 1961, the undersigned the Referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction at the front door of the County Court House, in the City of Kingston, Ulster County, New York, on the 11th day of September, 1961, at 11:00 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, eastern daylight saving time, the real property directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows:

PARCEL 1. ALL THAT CERTAIN PARCEL OF REAL ESTATE OF LAND, TOGETHER WITH BUILDINGS AND IMPROVEMENTS THEREON, situated in the Town of New Paltz, County of Ulster and State of New York, known as the Homestead Farm of Solomon F. Elting, and bounded generally as follows: On the north by lands of formerly Luman Elting and others, now of Charles Thompson and of formerly Maurice W. Freer, now of Henry L. Hasbrouck on the south by highway leading from New Paltz to Kingston, and Florence West Elting, his wife, to Laura Hasbrouck, said deed bears date the 7th day of July, 1928, and is recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Book of Deeds No. 533, page 168, and July 1, 1924.

Also excepting and reserving from the above described land and premises a parcel of land deeded by Howard Elting and Florence West Elting, his wife, to Laura Hasbrouck, said deed bears date the 7th day of July, 1928, and is recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Book of Deeds No. 533, page 168, and July 1, 1924.

Also excepting and reserving from the above described land and premises all the land of about twenty-five acres lying east of the right of way of the Wallkill Valley Railroad tracks.

PARCEL 2. Also conveyance ALL THAT PARCEL OF REAL ESTATE situated in the Town of New Paltz, County of Ulster and State of New York, known as the "Elting Farm"—BEGINNING at a point on the old highway leading from New Paltz to Kingston, 23.5 feet south of Paltz to Hasbrouck, 23.5 feet south of the center of an elm tree standing on the south side of the entrance to the lands of Howard Elting and Florence West Elting, his wife, to Laura Hasbrouck, and the center of said highway to a point at the easterly approach of the bridge over the Brook in the said Mill Brook; thence south 52 degrees and 4 minutes west, 76.2 feet to a point in the center of the highway at the westerly approach of said bridge; thence still along the lands of Laura Hasbrouck, south 30 degrees and 7 minutes west 49.3 feet to a point in the center of said highway; thence leaving the highway, north 12 degrees and 31 minutes west 241 feet to a stake west of a large hickory tree; thence still along said Hasbrouck lands, north no degrees and 30 minutes west 49.3 feet to a stake 2 feet west of a small ash tree standing on the bank of said Mill Brook; thence south 52 degrees and 4 minutes east 240.6 feet to a stake southwest of a large hickory tree in the lands of Howard Elting, thence along the lands of said Howard Elting south 48 degrees and 10 minutes

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Marx of Saratoga Lake.

COUNTY COURT: ULSTER COUNTY

FIRST FEDERAL SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION OF KINGSTON, (formerly HOME-SEEKERS' SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION OF KINGSTON, N. Y.), Plaintiff,

WILLIAM FRANCIS WARD and ARMIDA J. WARD, his wife, Defendants.

IN PURSUANCE of a Judgment of Foreclosure and Sale duly granted in the above entitled action and entered in the Ulster County Clerk's Office on the 29th day of August, 1961, STEWART T. SCHWARTZ, the undersigned, Referee in said Judgment, will sell at public auction to the front door of the Court House at 283 Wall Street in the City of Kingston, Ulster County, New York, on the 22nd day of September, 1961, at 11:30 o'clock in the forenoon, the premises described in said Judgment as follows:

ALL THAT TRACT OR PARCEL OF LAND, with the buildings and improvements thereon, situated in the City of Kingston, County of Ulster and State of New York, bounded and described as follows:

BEGINNING at a point on the westerly side of Orchard Street fifty feet northerly from the intersection of the westerly side of Orchard Street and the northerly side of Calvert Street as laid down on map of lands of James S. McEntee, estate, and running from thence along the westerly side of Orchard Street 51.4 feet to lands of David Boyd; thence westerly along said 51.4 feet to lot #75 on aforesaid map; thence along lot #75 southerly 50.8 feet; thence easterly 72.1 feet to Orchard Street at point of beginning.

ALSO, ALL THAT TRACT OR PARCEL OF LAND, situated in the City of Kingston, County of Ulster and State of New York, bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point 49.2 feet from the easterly side of Calvert Street as laid down on map of lands of James S. McEntee, estate, and running from thence along the easterly side of Calvert Street and running parallel with the easterly side of Calvert Street 50 feet; thence westerly 50 feet along bounds of land recently owned by James S. McEntee, estate, to place of beginning. Being the easterly half of lot No. 75 as indicated on the above map.

Being the same premises conveyed by Ambrose J. Boyd and Rose C. Boyd to James S. McEntee, estate, by deed dated December 22, 1935 and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office simultaneously with this mortgage, which is given to secure a part of the purchase price.

Dated at the City of Kingston, New York, this 29th day of August, 1961.

Wagner Gives Top Priority to New School Building

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor Robert F. Wagner has instructed the City Planning Commission to give "highest priority" to new school construction and modernization in allocations of 1962 capital budget funds.

He called Friday for a "properly conceived and well-executed program" of school rehabilitation to avoid "repetition of the 'crash' program of repair undertaken this summer."

School construction scandals during the past year brought heated charges that many of the city's schools were in bad repair and therefore unsafe.

Trucker Strike Seen, Teamsters Meet Thursday

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Representatives of Teamsters Union locals in Upstate New York are scheduled to meet next Thursday to vote on the latest contract offer of 600 trucking companies.

Rocco DePerno, head of the Upstate Teamsters, did not disclose where the meeting would take place. He made the announcement after a negotiation session here Friday night with the employers.

DePerno, whose union represents 18,000 truck drivers Upstate, said the representatives would take their recommendations back to the locals for a vote by the membership Sept. 24.

He said a strike was likely unless the employers made a better offer.

A spokesman for the employers said the final offer was for increases of 34 cents an hour in wages and 9½ cents an hour in fringe benefits over a three-year period. "We think the offer is big enough for the union to accept," said William H. Mosely, chairman of the employers group.

He said the offer would bring hourly employees to a wage of $2.99 by 1964.

The contract between the Teamsters and the employers expired July 31. It has been extended since.

Urge Freer Hand For U.S. Troops

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Military chiefs reportedly are urging that U. S. commanders in Europe be given a freer hand to respond promptly—and as they see fit—to any Soviet harassment of movements in or out of Berlin.

Some Pentagon sources contend Gen. Lauris Norstad, top U. S. and Allied commander in Europe, is operating under too restricted authority to deal on the spot with such Communist actions.

These sources said State Department officials involved in planning U. S. moves in the Berlin crisis are intent on trying to anticipate all possible situations and to lay down specific instructions on how to cope with them.

The military view, as expounded by the Defense Department sources, is that all possible situations cannot be anticipated and that armed forces commanders would be handicapped if they were not allowed to exercise their judgment according to the circumstances.

SIGNING LEASE FOR KINGSTON SHOPPING PLAZA — N. E. Nelson (right), president of J. J. Newberry Company, signs lease for first 80,000 feet of store space in the proposed Kingston Shopping Plaza off Clinton Avenue in the rear of Kingston Lumber Company. With him are Thomas M. Muradian of Whitinsville, Mass., developer, and Florence Kates, Sharon, Mass., realtor. Walter Caniz of this city, local renting agent, was not present for the picture. Rights of way over the New York Central Railroad property have been acquired and plans for public utilities at the location are nearing completion. Work on the plaza is expected to start about the middle of October.

Taxpayer Group Slates Vote on By-Law Changes

The regular meeting of the Woodstock Township Taxpayers Association will be held at Deane's Wednesday, Sept. 20, at 8 p. m.

Of special interest to all members this month will be the vote to revise the constitution in order to make the taxpayers one group instead of delegated chapters.

The members of the Woodstock chapter at their last meeting passed a resolution requesting the change in the constitution in order to strengthen the aims and activities of the association. The board of directors of both groups have approved a vote for the above change.

The WTTA president, John Melia, has requested all members, especially those from Willow, Lake Hill and Shady to be present for this important discussion and vote. Also on the agenda are new committee appointments, possible changes in the board of directors, plans and suggestions from all members as to this year's goals and possible areas of study.

Reformed Church News and Notes

Sunday school will be in full session on Sunday, Sept. 17, starting at 9:30 a. m. at the Woodstock Reformed Church. The morning worship service begins at 11 a. m., the sermon topic being: "On Building the Church." The Senior Choir will render its first anthem of the new church year. Nursery accommodations are provided for the care of small children during the service.

A Classis Mission Festival will be held in the Hurley Reformed Church beginning at 4 p. m. There will be a hymn-sing, an address by the Rev. Keigi Kuniyasu, minister of the United Church of Christ in Japan, currently studying at Union Theological Seminary in New York. The color film, "A Day for Witness" dealing with witnessing in South America, will also be shown. Those attending will bring their own lunches. Beverages will be provided. All members and friends of the church are invited to attend.

Committee meetings for the week include Christian Education, 8 p. m. Monday; Guild Executive Committee and Church House Committees, both at 8 p. m. on Tuesday. The Senior Choir rehearses at 7:30 p. m. on Thursdays.

Mystery of Seven By Shimmerling

The Miraculous Seven: On my trip to the easternmost section of Austria, the Burgenland, I visited the seven communities which were once assigned to the Jews for settling there by Prince Esterhazy. The Sette Comuni (7 communities), an area in Northern Italy, was a battle ground in World War I.

Siebenhirten and Siebenbrunn (seven in German means seven) are little towns in Austria. We know that the German name for Rumania's Transylvania province is Siebenbürgen; there also is Siebenbürgen (Seven Mountain Range) in Germany. And since it is said that Rome is built on seven hills (there are actually more since, for example, Monte Pincio is not included), one might think that seven is a favorite number in geography. But it seems that also history, mythology, astronomy, the magic land of fairy tales, the Bible and other branches of human cultural life have been invaded by the Miraculous Seven.

Didn't ancient Rome have 7 kings from Romulus to Tarquinius Superbus? 7 testament witnesses were required by Roman law and 7 relics of the Roman Empire were kept on the Tarpeian Rock. The City of Theben had 7 portals; in "The Seven Against Theben" Adrastus' army was divided into seven groups. He erected 7 pyres for the princes who fell in battle. Only 7 Greeks were saved in the encounter with Polyphemus. And wasn't Odysseus detained for 7 years by Kalypso? On the seventh day when the storm was over, the Greeks embarked and left the island of Thrinakia. In the Labyrinth of Crete the Minotaur was fed with 7 youths and 7 maidens. For her pride Niebe's 7 sons and 7 daughters were slain by Artemis and Apollo to whom sacrifices were brought on the seventh day before New Moon. Seven cities in Greece claimed to be the birthplace of Homer. Antiquity knew the Seven Wonders of the World from the pyramids of Egypt to the Colossus of Rhodes.

Old Testament First If we believe that Hebrew religion antedates the pagan religion and mythology of the Greeks and other people, we would have to say that the Old Testament was the first to use the miraculous seven, because God, after he had created the world in six days, ended his work on the seventh day (Genesis I, Chapter 2, Verse 2). Should there have been a "seven" ever before the creation of the world? Jacob served 7 years and another 7 years to win Rachel. Joseph interpreted Pharaoh's dream of the seven kine flattened and the seven kine lean-fleshed, the 7 ears, etc., as the 7 good years and the 7 years of famine. Jonah was 7 days in the whale. Passover, Sh'vueth, Sukoth are 7 days festivals; and so are other ceremonies (wedding, morning of the Jews, Samson's hair came down in 7 braids; and Saul's crime against the Gibeonites was atoned for by the death of 7 of his descendants. Zacariah, the prophet, speaks of the Seven Eyes of God; and there is the Menorah which has 7 arms. Submerging 7 times in the waters of the Jordan River; sprinkling your body 7 times; seven lambs for sacrifices and many more would mean to list only a fraction of examples from pre-Christian times.

The Christian religion took over; the miraculous seven became a Holy Seven. The Seven Last Words of Christ, the Seven Sacraments, the Seven Canonic Hours of the Day, the Seven Deadly Sins, the Seven Lively Arts. . . . Endless is the list of the examples in the world of fairy tales, children songs and proverbs. The stories by the Grimm Brothers, Hans Christian Andersen, Bocheim and other tale tellers team with "sevens" of all kind though not all are as well known as Snow-White and the Seven Dwarfs. It seems that the Chaldeans were the first to know 7 planets and to establish a week of 7 days; that the Persians were the first to speak about the Seven Good Spirits as opposed to the Seven Spirits of Evil.

From There To Wagner A long way from there, indeed, to Richard Wagner whose Beckmesser in "The Meistersinger" allows 7 mistakes against the rules of the tabulatura; whose "Flying Dutchman" sings "again the seven years have past" (similar to Archibald Douglas who has "borne it for seven years," see Fontane's poem, set to music by Carl Lewer). A long way, indeed, from the Serpent with the Seven Heads, from the Revelation of St. John the Divine which teams with "sevens," via the Seven Ravens, the Seven League Boots, the Dance of the Seven Veils, and many sevens in the Nibelungen Saga to the German Kurfürsten whose number is seven.

It seems that even Nature participants in the Miraculous Seven: in Newton's spectrum are seven distinct colors between red and violet. Also music uses the first seven letters of the alphabet. Hence our diatonic scales, major, minor or others, consist of exactly seven tones. And finally, whether the manufacturers of Seven-Up intended to add a bit of mystery to a refreshing drink or whether the name refers to seven ingredients, what difference does it make? Catullus, Ovid and Vergil tell the delatias of Nile and Danube. Septembris, Septemgenius or Septemplex which means about the same as "sevenfold" or "seven arms" though in both cases, more or less than just seven would be as correct.

Does the Septentrie in our northern sky indicate that in outer space and perhaps beyond

Moving to Slow Impact on Areas In Base Closing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department says passage of bills to slow the closing of military bases in unemployment areas could jeopardize the nation's defense planning.

Asst. Secretary of Defense Thomas D. Morris said Friday his department was taking steps to minimize the economic impact of the shutdown of a base might have on a community.

The subcommittee has before it bills by Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., and Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., to require Commerce Department study of the impact the planned closing of a military base would have in an unemployment area.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., said by closing bases the department sometimes created an economically depressed area where none existed before. This raises a question whether a shutdown for economy reasons is real or fictitious, he said.

Morris said the power of the Defense Department to decide which bases should be closed and which should be retained "must not be diluted or subjected to prolonged delay" as envisioned in the bills before the subcommittee.

"Such delay," he said, "might jeopardize proper planning for our national defense and have the effect of deterring the taking of such difficult, unpleasant and temporarily unpopular decisions."

On a base declared surplus by the defense department, Morris said, it must be considered a declining asset from a community standpoint.

Dairy Princess Is Due at Eastern Exposition Show

WEST SPRINGFIELD, Mass. — The 1962 Dairy Princess will make her national premiere appearance at the Eastern States Exposition, West Springfield, Mass., on the Exposition's opening day, Sept. 16.

Her name is Louis Knolle, and she was chosen Dairy Princess from among contestants representing 34 states at the 7th Annual American Dairy Princess Contest, in Chicago, on Wednesday, Sept. 13.

Princess Louise is a sophomore at Southern Methodist University, and a native of San Diego, Tex. She is 5' 6½", 125 pounds, and 19 years old—a New Year's baby in 1942. Blonde and blue-eyed, the 1962 Dairy Princess lives on the family farm of 10,000 acres which produces 18-25,000 lbs. of milk per year from a herd of 5,500 registered Jerseys.

The new Dairy Princess will appear at the Eastern States Exposition Coliseum on the Governor's Command Performance, starting at 7:30 p. m. Guests of honor will be the governors of the six New England States. Art Linkletter, of radio and TV fame, will M. C. the evening's program and will give his famous "People Are Funny" routines.

Printers Accept 2-Year Pact at 10 N. Y. Papers

NEW YORK (AP) — Composing room employees of the city's 10 major newspapers apparently have accepted a new two-year work contract.

A secret vote showed 3,798 in favor and 3,548 against, a margin of 250.

The vote, taken Thursday and counted Friday called for ratification of an Aug. 3 agreement between International Typographical Union No. 6 and the Publishers Association of New York City.

The new pact provides weekly wage boosts of $4 in the first year and $3 in the second year, plus fringe benefits. The contract terms are retroactive to last Dec. 8 when the old contract expired. Under the old pact, weekly wages ranged from $134 to $144.

Ann Neagoe Poem On Pablo Casals

While in Florida last winter, a Woodstock painter, Ann Neagoe, saw and heard an old film. It was of Pablo Casals, the great cellist, playing solo. This, in the inspiringly impressive background of an important old cathedral, empty of worshippers.

So moving was the experience that it evoked the following lovely poem, which it will be agreed, says May C. Myers, has all the tenderness and grace of Ann Neagoe's own beautiful paintings.

(Tribute to Pablo Casals) Surrounded by lofty vault, Man and cello sit alone, Together a pyramid, The cello, aflame with desire Waits to be caressed. With quiet force, the man's hand Draws from the cello's body Infinite glow. His fingers touch and play Over her slender throat. Man and cello welded by love Fill the void With heavenly light.

State Feels Newburgh Gives Up on 'Tough' Welfare Code

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The city of Newburgh has "substantially abandoned" its much-touted "get tough" welfare plan, the state social welfare commissioner said Friday.

Commissioner Raymond W. Houston commented in response to a reporter's inquiry about court papers the city filed after a judge enjoined the city from carrying out its 13-point program.

The 13 points, as spelled out in the city's court answer, look much softer and far more legal than the original 13, adopted last July, aides to Houston agreed.

Adheres to Laws

"I am happy to learn that, according to Newburgh's answer, it has substantially abandoned its widely publicized 13 points and promises to carry out the state and federal laws on public welfare," Houston said.

In Newburgh, however, City

Manager Joseph Mitchell said the interpretation of the points given in the court papers did not represent a compromise in the program, which drew the fire of state officials and the attention of the nation.

"This is what we meant when we said we were within the law," Mitchell told a reporter. "We are spelling out for the first time how we were going to proceed. We deliberately held off the interpretation, so that we could put it before a judge rather than the State Social Welfare Board."

One of the original 13 points said that "all mothers of illegitimate children are to be advised that, should they have any more children out of wedlock, they shall be denied relief."

In the interpretation, this point says "all mothers of illegitimate children shall be advised that, should they have any more children out of wedlock, an investigation shall be made as to the home environment, and if such home environment is not deemed satisfactory judicial proceedings shall be instituted to place all such children in foster care in place of the continuance of welfare aid to the mother for such child or children."

Other Original Points

Another of the original points said: "All recipients physically capable of and available for private employment who are offered a job but refuse it, regardless of the type of employment involved, are to be denied relief."

As interpreted, it adds the phrase "provided that recipient is physically fitted for the job, that the job is not hazardous and the salary adequate and reasonable in view of all the facts and circumstances."

No rephrasing is given for the work-relief program but the interpretation says this point "has been and is interpreted in practice in a manner to conform with state and federal law."

The original point said: "All able-bodied adult males on relief of any kind who are capable of working are to be assigned to the chief of Building Maintenance for work assignment on a 40-hour week."

The state permits communities to require some relief-recipients to work but said the wording of Newburgh's rule left room for assigning persons receiving Old and the like.

In practice, Newburgh has had only one man on work relief recently.

Granville Plant Closed

GRANVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—This Washington County community's largest industry was shut down today because of a strike.

A contract between the Telescope Folding Furniture Co. Inc., and Local 36 of the United Furniture Workers, AFL-CIO, expired Friday and negotiations on a new one broke off Friday night.

Newton Baker, president of Local 36, said the union and the company were far apart.

The firm employs about 500 during peak periods. Of these, 366 are members of the union. Baker said the issues involved included wages. He did not elaborate. Present wage scales were not disclosed.

Wagner Gives Top Priority to New School Building

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor Robert F. Wagner has instructed the City Planning Commission to give "highest priority" to new school construction and modernization in allocations of 1962 capital budget funds.

He called Friday for a "properly conceived and well-executed program" of school rehabilitation to avoid "repetition of the 'crash' program of repair undertaken this summer."

School construction scandals during the past year brought heated charges that many of the city's schools were in bad repair and therefore unsafe.

Trucker Strike Seen, Teamsters Meet Thursday

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Representatives of Teamsters Union locals in Upstate New York are scheduled to meet next Thursday to vote on the latest contract offer of 600 trucking companies.

Rocco DePerno, head of the Upstate Teamsters, did not disclose where the meeting would take place. He made the announcement after a negotiation session here Friday night with the employers.

DePerno, whose union represents 18,000 truck drivers Upstate, said the representatives would take their recommendations back to the locals for a vote by the membership Sept. 24.

He said a strike was likely unless the employers made a better offer.

A spokesman for the employers said the final offer was for increases of 34 cents an hour in wages and 9½ cents an hour in fringe benefits over a three-year period. "We think the offer is big enough for the union to accept," said William H. Mosely, chairman of the employers group.

He said the offer would bring hourly employees to a wage of $2.99 by 1964.

The contract between the Teamsters and the employers expired July 31. It has been extended since.

Urge Freer Hand For U.S. Troops

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Military chiefs reportedly are urging that U. S. commanders in Europe be given a freer hand to respond promptly—and as they see fit—to any Soviet harassment of movements in or out of Berlin.

Some Pentagon sources contend Gen. Lauris Norstad, top U. S. and Allied commander in Europe, is operating under too restricted authority to deal on the spot with such Communist actions.

These sources said State Department officials involved in planning U. S. moves in the Berlin crisis are intent on trying to anticipate all possible situations and to lay down specific instructions on how to cope with them.

The military view, as expounded by the Defense Department sources, is that all possible situations cannot be anticipated and that armed forces commanders would be handicapped if they were not allowed to exercise their judgment according to the circumstances.

SIGNING LEASE FOR KINGSTON SHOPPING PLAZA — N. E. Nelson (right), president of J. J. Newberry Company, signs lease for first 80,000 feet of store space in the proposed Kingston Shopping Plaza off Clinton Avenue in the rear of Kingston Lumber Company. With him are Thomas M. Muradian of Whitinsville, Mass., developer, and Florence Kates, Sharon, Mass., realtor. Walter Canizis of this city, local renting agent, was not present for the picture. Rights of way over the New York Central Railroad property have been acquired and plans for public utilities at the location are nearing completion. Work on the plaza is expected to start about the middle of October.

Woodstock Area News

LISA TIANO, Correspondent

Taxpayer Group Slates Vote on By-Law Changes

The regular meeting of the Woodstock Township Taxpayers Association will be held at Deane's Wednesday, Sept. 20, at 8 p. m.

Of special interest to all members this month will be the vote to revise the constitution in order to make the taxpayers one group instead of delegated chapters.

The members of the Woodstock chapter at their last meeting passed a resolution requesting the change in the constitution in order to strengthen the aims and activities of the association. The board of directors of both groups have approved a vote for the above change.

The WTTA president, John Melia, has requested all members, especially those from Willow, Lake Hill and Shady to be present for this important discussion and vote. Also on the agenda are new committee appointments, possible changes in the board of directors, plans and suggestions from all members as to this year's goals and possible areas of study.

Reformed Church News and Notes

Sunday school will be in full session on Sunday, Sept. 17, starting at 9:30 a. m. at the Woodstock Reformed Church. The morning worship service begins at 11 a. m., the sermon topic being: "On Building the Church." The Senior Choir will render its first anthem of the new church year. Nursery accommodations are provided for the care of small children during the service.

A Classis Mission Festival will be held in the Hurley Reformed Church beginning at 4 p. m. There will be a hymn-sing, an address by the Rev. Keigi Kuniyasu, minister of the United Church of Christ in Japan, currently studying at Union Theological Seminary in New York. The color film, "A Day for Witness" dealing with witnessing in South America, will also be shown. Those attending will bring their own lunches. Beverages will be provided. All members and friends of the church are invited to attend.

Committee meetings for the week include Christian Education, 8 p. m. Monday; Guild Executive Committee and Church House Committees, both at 8 p. m. on Tuesday. The Senior Choir rehearses at 7:30 p. m. on Thursdays.

Mystery of Seven By Shimmerling

The Miraculous Seven: On my trip to the easternmost section of Austria, the Burgenland, I visited the seven communities which were once assigned to the Jews for settling there by Prince Esterhazy. The Sette Comuni (7 communities), an area in Northern Italy, was a battle ground in World War I.

Siebenhirten and Siebenbrunn (seven in German means seven) are little towns in Austria. We know that the German name for Rumania's Transylvania province is Siebenburgen; there also is a Siebengebirge (Seven Mountain Range) in Germany. And since it is said that Rome is built on seven hills (there are actually more since, for example, Monte Pincio is not included), one might think that seven is a favorite number in geography. But it seems that also history, mythology, astronomy, the magic land of fairy tales, the Bible and other branches of human cultural life have been invaded by the Miraculous Seven.

Didn't ancient Rome have 7 kings from Romulus to Tarquinius Superbus? 7 testament witnesses were required by Roman law and 7 relics of the Roman Empire were kept on the Tarpeian Rock. The City of Theben had 7 portals; in "The Seven Against Theben" Adrastus' army was divided into seven groups. He erected 7 pyres for the princes who fell in battle. Only 7 Greeks were saved in the encounter with Polyphemus. And wasn't Odysseus detained for 7 years by Kalyptos? On the seventh day when the storm was over, the Greeks embarked and left the island of Thrinakia. In the Labyrinth of Crete the Minotaur was fed with 7 youths and 7 maidens. For her pride Niebe's 7 sons and 7 daughters were slain by Artemis and Apollo to whom sacrifices were brought on the seventh day before New Moon. Seven cities in Greece claimed to be the birthplace of Homer. Antiquity knew the Seven Wonders of the World from the pyramids of Egypt to the Colossus of Rhodes.

Old Testament First
If we believe that Hebrew religion antedates the pagan religion and mythology of the Greeks and other people, we would have to say that the Old Testament was the first to use the miraculous seven, because God, after he had created the world in six days, ended his work on the seventh day (Genesis I, Chapter 2, Verse 2). Should there have been a "seven" even before the creation of the world?

Jacob served 7 years and another 7 years to win Rachel. Joseph interpreted Pharaoh's dream of the "seven kine fat-fleshed and the seven kine lean-fleshed, the 7 ears, etc., as the 7 good years and the 7 years of famine." Jonah was 7 days in the whale. Passover, Sh'vueth, Sukoth are 7 days festivals; and so are other ceremonies (wedding, morning) of the Jews. Samson's hair came down in 7 braids; and Saul's crime against the Gibeonites was atoned for by the death of 7 of his descendants. Zacariah, the prophet, speaks of the Seven Eyes of God; and there is the Menorah which has 7 arms. Submerging 7 times in the waters of the Jordan River; sprinkling your body 7 times; seven lambs for sacrifices and many more would mean to list only a fraction of examples from pre-Christian times.

The Christian religion took over; the miraculous seven became Holy Seven. The Seven Last Words of Christ, the Seven Sacraments, the Seven Canonic Hours of the Day, the Seven Deadly Sins, the Seven Lively Arts . . . Endless is the list of the examples in the world of fairy tales, children songs and proverbs. The stories by the Grimm Brothers, Hans Christian Andersen, Bochein and other tale tellers team with "sevens" of all kind though not all are as well known as Snow-White and the Seven Dwarfs. It seems that the Chaldeans were the first to know 7 planets and to establish a week of 7 days; that the Persians were the first to speak about the Seven Good Spirits as opposed to the Seven Spirits of Evil.

From There To Wagner

A long way from there, indeed, to Richard Wagner whose Beckmesser in "The Meistersinger" allows 7 mistakes against the rules of the tabulatura; whose "Flying Dutchman" sings "again the seven years have past" (similar to Archibald Douglas who has "borne it for seven years," see Fontane's poem, set to music by Carl Leewe). A long way, indeed, from the Serpent with the Seven Heads, from the Revelation of St. John the Divine which teams with "sevens," via the Seven Ravens, the Seven League Boots, the Dance of the Seven Veils, and many sevens in the Nibelungen Sings to the German Kurfürsten whose number is seven.

It seems that even Nature participants in the Miraculous Seven: In Newton's spectrum are seven distinct colors between red and violet. Also music uses the first seven letters of the alphabet. Hence our diatonic scales, major, minor or others, consist of exactly seven tones. And finally, whether the manufacturers of Seven-Up intended to add a bit of mystery to a refreshing drink or whether the name refers to seven ingredients, what difference does it make? Catullus, Ovid and Vergil call the deltas of Nile and Danube Septemfiumus, Septemgenius or Septemfium which means about the same as "sevenfold" or "seven arms" though in both cases, more or less than just seven would be as correct.

Does the Septentrie in our northern sky indicate that in outer space and perhaps beyond

Moving to Slow Impact on Areas In Base Closing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department says passage of bills to slow the closing of military bases in unemployment areas could jeopardize the nation's defense planning.

Asst. Secretary of Defense Thomas D. Morris said Friday his department was taking steps to minimize the economic impact the shutdown of a base might have on a community.

The subcommittee has before it bills by Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., and Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., to require Commerce Department study of the impact the planned closing of a military base would have in an unemployment area.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., said by closing bases the department sometimes created an economically depressed area where none existed before. This raises a question whether a shutdown for economy reasons is real or fictitious, he said.

Morris said the power of the Defense Department to decide which bases should be closed and which should be retained "must not be diluted or subjected to prolonged delay" as envisioned in the bills before the subcommittee.

"Such delay," he said, "might jeopardize proper planning for our national defense and have the effect of deterring the taking of such difficult, unpleasant and temporarily unpopular decisions."

Once a base is declared surplus by the defense department, Morris said, it must be considered a declining asset from a community standpoint.

Dairy Princess Is Due at Eastern Exposition Show

WEST SPRINGFIELD, Mass. — The 1962 Dairy Princess will make her national premiere appearance at the Eastern States Exposition, West Springfield, Mass., on the Exposition's opening day, Sept. 16.

Her name is Louis Knolle, and she was chosen Dairy Princess from among contestants representing 34 states at the 7th Annual American Dairy Princess Contest, in Chicago, on Wednesday, Sept. 13.

Princess Louise is a sophomore at Southern Methodist University, and a native of Sandia, Tex. She is 5' 6½", 125 pounds, and 19 years old — a New Year's baby in 1942. Blonde and blue-eyed, the 1962 Dairy Princess lives on the family farm of 10,000 acres which produces 18-25,000 lbs. of milk per year from a herd of 5,500 registered Jerseys.

The new Dairy Princess will appear at the Eastern States Exposition Coliseum on the Governor's Command Performance, starting at 7:30 p. m. Guests of honor will be the governors of the six New England States. Art Linkletter, of radio and TV fame, will M. C. the evening's program and will give his famous "People Are Funny" routines.

Printers Accept 2-Year Pact at 10 N. Y. Papers

NEW YORK (AP) — Composing room employees of the city's 10 major newspapers apparently have accepted a new two-year work contract.

A secret vote showed 3,798 in favor and 3,548 against, a margin of 250.

The vote, taken Thursday and counted Friday called for ratification of an Aug. 3 agreement between International Typographical Union No. 6 and the Publishers Association of New York City.

The new pact provides weekly wage boosts of $4 in the first year and $3 in the second year, plus fringe benefits. The contract terms are retroactive to last Dec. 8 when the old contract expired. Under the old pact, weekly wages ranged from $134 to $144.

Our future base on the moon the Sacred Seven might be as miraculously valid and mysteriously unexplainable as it is on earth and has been so since thousands of years?

Betts Gives Up Civil War Post, Fired as Boss

WASHINGTON (AP) — Karl S. Betts, recently fired as executive director of the Civil War Centennial Commission, has decided to quit rather than accept demotion to commission consultant.

Betts formally resigned his $17,600 job Friday. The commission voted 10 to 3 last Aug. 30 to dismiss him.

Too Much Circus Aspect

Rep. Frank E. Smith, D-Miss., a new commission member who heads a five-member committee seeking a replacement for Betts, said last Tuesday there had been "too much emphasis on the circus aspects" of state and local reenactments of civil war events and not enough of the scholarly research and "those aspects of the war which help create unity."

Betts a former Washington investment banker now living in Catonsville, Md., replied that the commission had decided "that the states and localities should arrange their own commemorations free of dictation from Washington." He added:

"American industry, meanwhile, has appeared with its products calling attention to the commemoration a matter over which the national commission has no control, nor should it. And so the complaint has been made in the public press of 'too much Hollywood' on the part of the national commission."

"Lost to sight, somehow, is the enormous amount of scholarship which was stimulated by the national commission. Innumerable diaries, letters and other memorabilia of the war passed through our hands to find usefulness through our efforts in public and college libraries."

Two commission members resigned in the wake of Betts' firing.

Maj. Gen. U. S. Grant III, commission chairman, cited "arbitrary and inconsiderate" demands made upon him by other commission members in forcing the Aug. 30 meeting while his wife was ill.

Adm. Stuart W. Ingersoll, chairman of the executive committee, also quit with the comment that Betts' dismissal was a slap at Grant, who is grandson of the Civil War Commander of the Union forces.

Compact Bill Is Voted by Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has passed unanimously a bill to create a four-state compact for development of Delaware River Basin water resources.

The Senate version passed Friday is different from that passed by the House. The differences are expected to be ironed out quickly, however.

The major difference in the Senate version stipulates that any project undertaken by the four-state agency must have congressional authorization if federal funds are involved.

Involved are the states of New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware.
